Island Cheers Queen

Crowds Applaud Along Highway

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip were greeted everywhere by cheering crowds today as they headed down Vancouver Island toward Victoria and the westernmost point in the Newfoundland to B.C. royal tour.

The Queen stepped ashore from HMCS Assiniboine at Nanaimo at 10.07 a.m., as the ship's company doffed caps for three cheers and a tiger.

Under a warm sun and blue skies, the second visit to the Island for the royal couple began auspiciously.

Nine years ago they were here as Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, the year before her ascension to the throne.

On that occasion, as they travelled from Victoria to a holiday at Qualicum Beach, Prince Philip took the wheel of the car and whipped over the highway at 70 miles per hour.

Today's drive down island was less speedy, for the most part, with "slow drive" stretches where onlookers got a good view of the Queen and Prince.

3,000 at Nanaimo Indian Ceremony

Over 3,000 jammed Exhibition Park at Nanaimo to watch the Indian ceremony which made the Queen a tribal "Princess."

The drive to Victoria was timed to arrive at the Fountain circle at 3.20 p.m. and at Government House at 3.45 p.m.

Main function for the day is a ceremony—at the legislative buildings, commencing—at 5.10 p.m., with a greeting from the Premier, Royal salute, inspection of honor guard, and tri-service march past.

'Beautiful—But She Looks Tired'

When the royal party reached Chemainus from Nanaimo, more than 6,000 men, women and children had waited an hour and a half to get a brief look at the Queen and Prince Philip.

Almost unanimously they described Her Majesty as "beautiful—but she does look tired."

Sharp at noon, townsfolk, residents of neighboring Cooper and Thetis Islands, scouts, cubs, guides, brownies and 150 children from the Pacific Pioneer Camp on Thetis Island burst forth with loud cheers as the royal car came into view.

The Queen and Prince Philip acknowledged the crowd and cheers with a wave and easy smiles. Prince Philip cast an extra long look at Chemainus volunteer firemen standing smartly beside their sparkling fire engines.

Royal Smiles for Cubs, Brownies

Two hundred members of the Canadian Legion, Branch 191, in blue blazers and berets, complete with color parties, sprang smartly to attention as the Queen and Prince drove along Willow Street.

They smiled and waved frequently as the car drove slowly through the community.

They seemed to direct their smiles to the children, especially the groups of cubs, scouts, brownies, and guides.

The crowd dispersed quickly as they passed by, many leaving to get new vantage points near the Mt. Brenton golf club, where lunch was served on the fourth fairway.

The Queen was seen to remove her hat and gloves to give the luncheon a picnic atmosphere.

QUEEN COMING BACK FOR SEATTLE FAIR?

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — The Queen told Governor Albert Rosellini of Washington State Wednesday she hopes she can attend Seattle's century 21 exposition May 10, 1960.

Governor Rosellini said he made the invitation when he attended the official opening by the Queen of the Deas Island tunnel under the Fraser river, 15 miles south of here.

The tunnel will be part of a direct route between Washington and Vancouver.

Rosellini said the Queen said: "We hope we can attend."

He said he told her an official invitation will be mailed to Buckingham Palace.

Victoria Newspapers Join National Group

The Victoria Daily Times and the Daily Colonist today entered a new corporate newspaper structure embracing a chain of seven newspapers between here and Ottawa.

Announcement of the new company—to be known as "F.P. Publications Ltd."—was made by Col. Victor Sifton from Winnipeg this morning.

Col. Sifton's statement follows: "In association with G. Max Bell of Calgary I am incorporating a new company to be known as F.P. Publications Ltd., with head office in Winnipeg.

The new company will own or control the Ottawa Journal.

'Respected by All, Mother of All People'

200 Indians Make Queen Their Princess

By JOHN MIKA

"Respected by all, mother of all people"—Queen Elizabeth today received this proud name from her Indian subjects at a color and tradition-packed ceremonial greeting in Nanaimo's Exhibition Park.

More than 200 Indians belonging to bands stretching from Alert Bay to Victoria produced an eye-catching display of tribal dances, crafts, cooking and customs as more than 3,000 persons watched the Hub City's official welcome to the Queen.

"Ar-Oh-Muthi" they named Her Majesty, making her a princess of the Salish tribe to bestow their highest honor for a woman. Her mace was a five-foot totem staff.

Double Roars of Welcome Greet Pair

The Queen and Prince Philip were greeted by double roars of welcome from the packed 2,500-seat stadium as their car entered the park behind a six-motorcycle escort of RCMP constables.

Both appeared relaxed at the informal reception after their arduous schedule in Vancouver.

They obviously were pleased with the reception and show in the park and everyone was pleased with the weather.

STOPPED TO CHAT

Both the Queen and her consort stopped to chat with some of the hundreds of Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies that formed a five-deep corridor from the Royal car to a dais where Nanaimo

Boy's Shriek Shouts Heralds Royal Roar

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

NANAIMO — A small boy standing in the crowds lining the sun-drenched harbor spearheaded Vancouver Island's welcome to the Queen and Prince Philip today.

"Here they come!" he shrieked as the trim, grey-clad destroyer escort HMCS Assiniboine crept from behind tree-lined Protection Island and slid through the harbor to the flag-draped dockside.

Minutes later a crowd of 2,000 men, women and children of all ages, massed around the dockside, took up the cry of welcome.

As the Assiniboine came alongside — her four escort ships circling the harbor behind her — the ship's company assembled in trim formation on the lower decks for inspection by the Royal visitors.

The historic moment came when, as RCAF planes roared overhead, the Queen and her escort were piped ashore in traditional navy style.

The Queen, in polka-dot dress with trim black and white cloche mantling her soft brown hair, looked happy and relaxed after a night of slow cruising in the quiet waters of the Gulf of Georgia between Vancouver and the Island.

Prince Philip, hatless, in a light grey suit and dark glasses, was so deeply bronzed by weeks of sun that his blond eyebrows stood out in sharp relief.

Prince Waves In Carefree Fashion

He came off the ship with a long, sloping stroll and waved in almost carefree fashion to the welcoming crowds.

First to greet the Queen at the foot of the gangplank was Defence Minister General G. R. Pearkes, VC, who had flown out from Ottawa for the occasion.

In a dark suit and carrying a fedora hat, the general bowed low as he took the Queen's gloved hand and said: "Welcome to Vancouver Island, Your Majesty."

Mrs. Pearkes, in white dress with wide picture hat then shook hands with the Queen while General-Pearkes exchanged a manly handshake with Prince Philip.

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret was said today to be suffering from a sore throat.

The infection is not serious but she is remaining indoors at Clarence House, her London home.

U.K. CRITICISM

Worst Day Of Tour

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Herald says the Queen's tour of Vancouver Wednesday was "the toughest, most exacting and badly planned day of her Canadian tour."

"Any good that came of the three-day weekend holiday evaporated in Wednesday's performance. The Queen had to parade along a 30-mile route like a circus act."

"In 10½ hours she was allowed only three rest periods — of 15, five and 20 minutes."

The newspaper, which supports the Labor party, has published several articles criticizing the royal tour.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O Lord, we bless Thee for the good land in which we dwell. We thank Thee for our heritage as a free people, and we beseech Thee so to guide us that free men may not perish from the earth. We are mindful that we are also a servant people, destined to obey Thee and to serve our fellow men. Deepen our concern, lengthen our reach, smite our indifference, and make us a blessing to all nations and people through Him Who is the Prince of Peace. Amen.

Stop 'Bogus Slogans' Herter Tells Gromyko

GENEVA (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian Herter today called on Russia to stop trying to make propaganda and buckle down to working out an agreement on the Berlin crisis.

He challenged Russia's Andrei Gromyko to cut out "bogus slogans" like a "free city" of West Berlin and get down to seeking specific improvements in the crisis rather than mere change of names.

Herter emphasized that the basic problem was to make arrangements that would maintain the freedom of the peoples of West Berlin and prevent new crisis before Germany is reunited.

WAR WARNING

The American secretary warned Gromyko that another Berlin crisis flared up could plunge the world into war. He suggested calling on the United Nations to help police a Berlin truce agreement.

Herter appealed to Gromyko across the Big Four conference table to consider bringing an adequate UN staff into Berlin. The staff, with free access to both West and East Berlin, would report on propaganda activities that might disturb the public order or seriously affect the rights of others.

Herter described this as a form of "international scrutiny" over one aspect of Berlin's life.

SCRUTINY

Herter delivered the appeal as the conference headed towards what may be a crucial East-West showdown on Russia's Berlin demands.

The key item in the Soviet proposal is establishment of an all-German committee in which the Communist East Germans would have an equal voice with the West Germans.

The western powers fear such a commission ultimately would result in handing over all Germany to Communist domination. Gromyko already has warned the Soviets will not sign a Berlin truce agreement unless the West accepts the demand.

Nfld. Controversy Confuses Mr. Winch

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Whatever is behind the controversy lately swirling about Newfoundland's place in Confederation, Harold Winch says that the newest of Canadian provinces never had it so good.

"I want to say that the matter is very confusing," the CCF member for Vancouver East said Wednesday as the Commons finally gave divided approval to a bill providing federal grants totalling $36,500,000 for Newfoundland over a five-year period ending in 1962.

"Nevertheless, I still feel that Newfoundland has never had it so good as it has since it came into Confederation with Canada.

"It has never had it so good even though its standards of security and income are still the lowest in Canada."

Liberal Amendments Out of Order

The commission recommended $36,500,000 in special federal payments to Newfoundland from 1957 through 1962 and "thereafter" $8,000,000 annually.

Finance Minister Fleming and Prime Minister Diefenbaker both said Newfoundland's needs after 1962 will be given every consideration. But they argued that Term 29 of Newfoundland's Confederation contract with Canada makes no commitment for federal aid after 1962.

In a last-ditch effort to change the bill, the Liberals proposed three separate amendments. But all were ruled out of order and eventually final reading was given the bill "on division"—oral indication of opposition without a formal vote.

Senator Wishart Robertson warned Wednesday that if inflation remains unchecked the people of Canada may turn to a political group whose views are entirely different from those of the Conservative and Liberal parties.

He made the statement in opening Senate debate on a report on the threat of inflation, tabled Tuesday by the House's finance committee. The report said inflation is neither inevitable nor uncontrollable.

The Nova Scotia Liberal senator said the report stated inflation has cut the dollar's purchasing power by 40 per cent since 1946.

"This kind of thing cannot go on indefinitely or we will have a chaotic condition which will destroy everything we have known and cherished in this country," Senator Robertson said.

The Senate in a burst of speed Wednesday approved seven government bills, including a measure aimed at rid-

Mr. Winch said he could not conceive of any federal government "not carrying on assistance to Newfoundland in order to see that eventually that province at least reaches the average standard of all Canada."

Tenacious Liberal opposition to the bill centred around the single word "thereafter" in recommendations of the McNair royal commission which reviewed Newfoundland's economic position in the 10 years after joining up with Canada in 1949.

ding Canada's newstands of obscene literature.

Four of the bills were approved earlier by the Commons and three will go before the lower House before the end of the session, expected Saturday or early next week.

Besides the Criminal Code amendment on obscene literature, the bills include measures to set up a crop insurance plan in co-operation with the prov-mortgage credits to farmers, to extend the scope of the Maritime Coal Production Assistance Act, to repeal laws governing export of Newfoundland salt fish, and to authorize construction of two international bridges linking Ontario with Minnesota and New York.

Members of the RCMP are issued with weighted 22½-inch riding crops for use on duty, the House was informed Wednesday.

Tabling of the return for Arnold Peters (CCF, Timiskaming) recalled criticism of the use of these 12-ounce crops by RCMP personnel during the violence-ridden woodworkers' strike in Newfoundland earlier this year.

The crop consists of a steel rod tapering from one-eighth of an inch at the hand to three-eighths of an inch at the outer end, wrapped with insulating tape and covered with layers of rubber and leather.

'No Evidence' Of Pressure Against CBC

OTTAWA (CP) — A limit on federal treasury support of the CBC was proposed today by the Commons broadcasting committee.

The committee, in its report tabled in the Commons, also said the administrative structure of the publicly-owned corporation "is weak and in need of a thorough review."

But on one of the most explosive issues the committee studied during its 33 hearings—allegations that "clandestine political interference" was to blame for removal of the radio program Preview Commentary—the committee said it "found no evidence to support the charge."

CONCERNED BY COSTS

The committee said it "noted with concern" the recent steep rises in CBC costs, and said it was "unable to ascertain that there is any intelligible formula or pattern used in determining the annual budget of the CBC."

It suggested "that some formula be adopted whereby limits may be set on the annual contribution of the federal government to the corporation. Further... increased efforts should be made to ensure the emergence of vigorous commercial policies."

It expressed concern over the low proportion of the cost of sponsored television programs which is covered by advertiser payments and "the indefiniteness of the method" of setting the charges to the sponsor.

The committee's six-page report had only two sentences of praise for the CBC.

It said the committee "affirms its support of the basic aims and objectives of the CBC. We commend the officers of the corporation for their efforts to further these aims and objectives."

ADMINISTRATION WEAK
But it followed that statement with its criticism that the corporation's administration is "weak and in need for a thorough revision."

It said there is a lack of clear definition of authority, a multiplicity of authority in some places and a divided authority in others, and an apparent lack of effective liaison between top-level management and those responsible for producing programs.

"This has caused confusion and a wavering in morale of many employees, which are factors to which recent troubles of the corporation may be largely attributable."

Decentralization of management "may well have gone too far" and the CBC directors should give immediate consideration to a reorganization to restore "clear authority and responsibility" to CBC headquarters in Ottawa.

The CBC board of directors should assume full responsibility for policy, and the board's chairman should hold no other executive office in the CBC.

BOYS' CAMP ISOLATED

Typhoid Fears Mount

IJMUUDEN, Holland (Reuters)—A camp of 200 Canadian boys near this Dutch port was isolated today by medical authorities, who fear that an epidemic of typhoid fever has broken out in the camp.

The boys in the IJmuiden camp are children of Canadian servicemen stationed in Western Germany.

Wednesday night four boys complained of heavy abdominal pains and their number had grown to 16 by noon today.

As it was impossible for the management of the camp to give the boys medical treatment in a central place in the camp, the IJmuiden branch of The Netherlands Red Cross made available a large tent with a maximum capacity of 20 beds.

Although the disease has not yet definitely been determined as being typhoid fever, medical authorities have decided to isolate the camp pending an investigation.

In nearby Haarlem Wednesday, the authorities issued a warning for the population to cook all food carefully in view of an outbreak of typhoid in Haarlem, Bloemendaal and Heemstede. The number of affected people is estimated to run into several thousands.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-digesting mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unlocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, get Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat.

Steel Strike

JUST AS THE UNITED STATES emerged from its most recent recession and was proceeding to new peaks in its economy, the country's basic industry, steel, has been tied up by a strike.

This is, in fact, a national emergency. Just how long present supplies will last is conjectural. When they are exhausted other major and dependent industries will grind to a stop.

For this reason the administration in Washington considers a long strike unthinkable. At the moment, however, there is no indication of a reconciliation and industry is reportedly co-ordinated to hold its line.

Up to the present, President Eisenhower has not intervened, other than to urge both parties to find a settlement. Conceivably he may eventually have to step in, as President Truman stepped in during 1952, in a move to operate the steel producing forces of the nation.

In the meantime unions, seeking a 15 cents an hour increase for workers—now perhaps the highest paid industrial employees in the world—together with welfare benefits and a status quo in work practices, stand at arm's length from employers who are opposed to increasing production costs and want more flexible work practices in the interest of economies and efficiency in a field where their profits have been high.

The consequences of this strike are not, of course, limited to the unions striking against steel operators throughout the United States. They extend to our neighbor's whole economy and spill over into Canada.

Quite apart from the fact that steel wages have set a lead for other industries in the United States, they are an ingredient in costs which Canadians must pay for the substantial amount of steel products we import.

There is no assurance that steel wages will go up—or at least that any increases will outpace increased productivity and thereby add to costs. But if they do go up, Canadians can expect to pay them—and pay them on a range of articles from the tin that holds condensed soup to the new automobile that glitters in the dealer's showroom.

Settlement is a matter for the respective forces in the United States. The results of a settlement will be a matter of consequence to us.

Retreat From Combines

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT recently made a bold advance on the old problem of combines and now it has made a sudden retreat. Mr. Fulton, who had previously boasted of his strong new legislation, has withdrawn a large part of it, for no clear reason. All he says is that some clauses need more study. But must we conclude from this statement that the bill was not thoroughly studied before it was introduced in Parliament? What has happened to give Mr. Fulton pause?

Probably the most vital section now postponed, and unlikely ever to be enacted, would have applied a sweeping new doctrine to business mergers. If any merger substantially lessened competition, or seemed likely to do so, it was illegal. This meant that there could be virtually no mergers for all or most of them, by definition, must lessen competition in some degree.

For example, the recent merger of the MacMillan and Bloedel timber organization with the Powell River Company must lessen the number of competitors within Canada and the legislation, as it stood, would seem to make this project illegal. Yet the whole purpose of the merger was to increase the ability of the British Columbia timber industry to compete with the giant corporations of the United States in the American market.

Mr. Fulton seems to have realized the open-ended effect of the legislation only after he had asked Parliament to pass it. Probably he will be forced to reinstate the Liberal doctrine which forbade business organizations damaging to the public interest. That may be as fine a definition as the law can lay down. But why didn't Mr. Fulton and the Government think the thing through before they attempted another definition and were forced to abandon it?

Those parts of his bill which Mr. Fulton intends to retain are evidently in for a rough ride. The Opposition—the Liberal Party having introduced anti-combine legislation in the first place nearly half a century ago—suspects that Mr. Fulton will weaken the existing law while apparently strengthening it.

For example, the new legislation retains the Liberal ban on retail price maintenance, though Mr. Fulton and his party attacked it vigorously when they were in Opposition. Yet the Liberals believe that the ban can be evaded under Mr. Fulton's amendments.

Thus a manufacturer cannot dictate the retail selling price of his product to any merchant but if he thinks the merchant is deliberately selling at a loss to attract customers (the so-called loss-leader) then he may refuse to supply the merchant. This, the Liberals seem to fear, will re-introduce price maintenance by the back door.

Again, while combines are steadily prohibited, business concerns are allowed to exchange technical information. This, the Liberals suspect, will facilitate cosy, non-competitive price arrangements.

The whole legislation, emasculated at the eleventh hour, is so complicated technically that a long debate no doubt will be needed to clarify it. In these dying hours of the parliamentary session Mr. Fulton might wisely postpone the whole bill until he and the country know better what it means.

Not Enough Tourists

CANADA'S TOURIST TRADE with the United States is proving unsatisfactory this year, even at a time of American boom when our neighbors have plenty of money to spend on foreign travel.

A parliamentary committee in Ottawa thinks we are not pursuing the tourist dollar as actively or intelligently as we should. Some seventeen million Canadians spend more travel money in the United States than ten times that many Americans spend here. We are losing dollars on tourism which ought to be a big dollar earner.

Many things no doubt are needed to attract more Americans across the border—better roads, accommodation and attractions and certainly better advertising.

Mr. Ray Perrault, leader of the Liberal Party in British Columbia, with his eye on our local tourist trade, suggests a useful idea. The Canadian Travel Bureau, he says, should establish an office in California where a large part of our travel business originates. He thinks that an office which managed our advertising in California and provided direct information for tourists would pay for itself over and over again.

The Travel Bureau in Ottawa is favorable to this project but lacks the necessary funds. The Provincial Government has shown little interest in it. But only through such vigorous salesmanship can we hope to bring Americans north and overcome an unfavorable trade balance which should be heavily in our favor.

Fast Learners

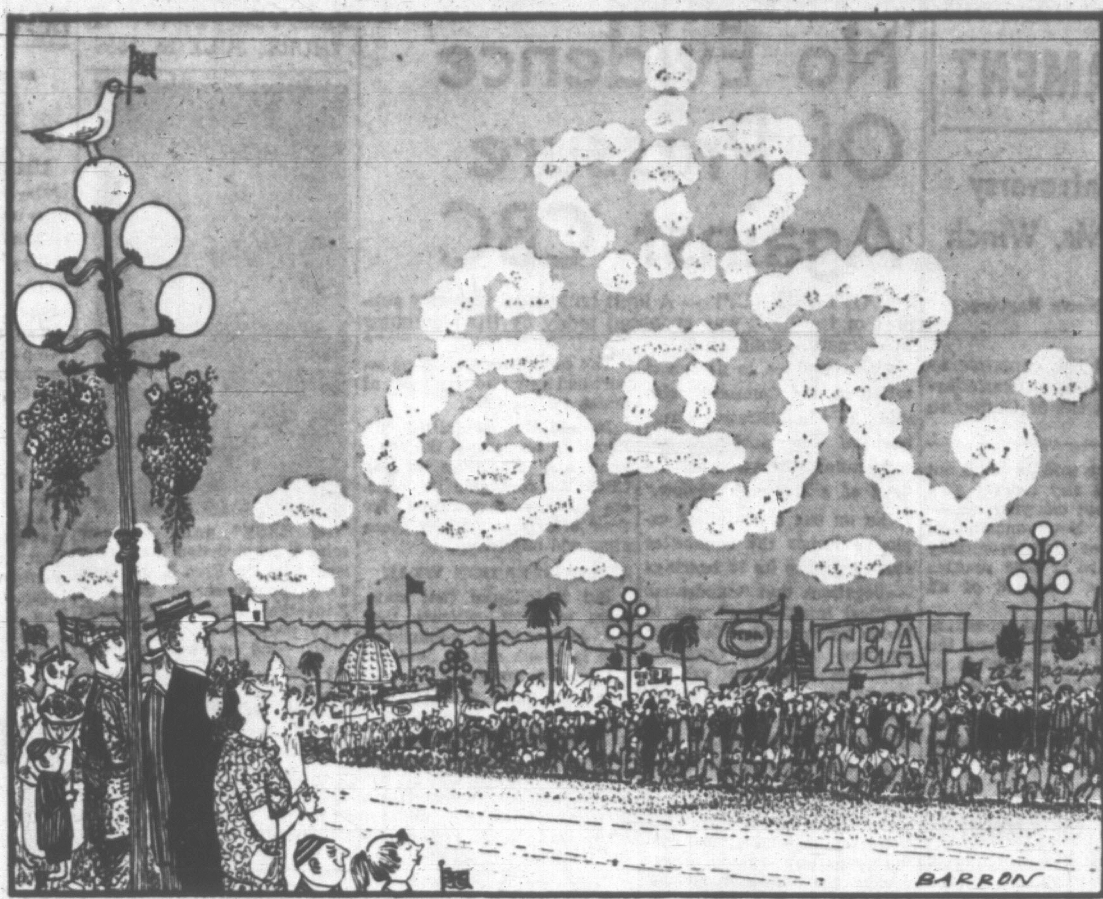

IT IS A LITTLE STARTLING TO learn that Australia will be represented in Olympic ice hockey at the Squaw Valley Winter Games next year.

Ice hockey is something we thought Australians would forego. We expect the best from them in swimming, running, cricket, tennis and sculling. But ice hockey? It doesn't sound reasonable. And anyhow Canada is having enough trouble with Russia in that sport. Still, if the Aussies take it up in the way they take up most athletics, it may not be long before they are a force to be reckoned with.

Already they seem to have established mastery of the first principle of amateur ice hockey. When they come to Squaw Valley they expect to be subsidized by the organizers of the Games to the extent of $500 a player.

There you have it: $500 to play in Squaw Valley. That's amateur ice hockey Canadian style. These Aussies learn fast.

"Good gracious... the weatherman certainly has outdone himself today...!"

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

WHILE the Canadian Parliament is worrying about public morals in the abstract, the United States Supreme Court has recently ruled on them in the concrete. We attempt in Canada a new definition of obscenity (which appears no better than the old one) in the fear that commercial pornography is running wild. The Supreme Court fears, on the contrary, that censorship is running wild and threatens to suppress disagreeable but perfectly legitimate ideas.

Hutchison

Thus in a historic decision the court holds that the state of New York had no right to ban a French motion picture version of "Lady Chatterley's Lover" merely because it seemed to say that adultery may be morally justified under some conditions.

"WHAT New York has done," says the court's judgment, "is to prevent the exhibition of a motion picture because that picture advocates an idea—that adultery under circumstances may be proper behavior. Yet the First Amendment's basic guarantee of freedom is to advocate ideas. The state, quite simply, has thus struck at the very heart of constitutionally protected liberties."

Here the difference between our constitutional system and the American is vividly revealed. Various amendments to the American Constitution make up the so-called Bill of Rights which no legislature, not even the Congress, can violate. In Canada we have no Bill of Rights, though the Government has promised to introduce an innocuous statute of some sort this year. As matters stand the national Parliament, or the provincial legislatures, or both in combination, could legislate to restrict any civil rights, including the right to see a movie like "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

SUCH a movie is not very important in itself. Indeed, Mr. Justice Frankfurter says it is so innocuous that it would hardly offend even the strictest Victorian sensibilities.

But it is terribly important, as the court finds, that a minority shall be able to advocate ideas objectionable to the majority and perhaps quite unsound, like many ideas held by the majority.

A free society is based primarily on the proposition that the minority may sometimes be wiser than the majority, that we cannot afford to extinguish heresies lest in the process we extinguish the truth.

HENCE the decision that "Lady Chatterley's Lover" may advocate adultery, though the Supreme Court and a vast majority of Americans do not advocate it.

To suppose that adultery will be accepted as sound doctrine merely because a movie advocates it now and then is to rate the moral stamina of the American people pretty low. The real danger of the movies or printed matter to public morals does not lie there. It usually lies, on the contrary, in material which pretends to advocate morality, which shows the immoral person punished in the end but presents this virtuous lesson with a nasty, erotic leer.

It is a common dodge among gutter publications, for instance, to launch a great crusade against prostitution in the interests of virtue for the sole purpose of exploiting smut and prostituting the printed word. The illegal prostitutes are sent to jail. The real and legal prostitutes, the key-hole writers, are rewarded with profits.

THE law (being an ass, as Mr. Bumble said long ago) often punishes the wrong people. But the law, however wise, will not determine the morals of a people anyway. For what, after all, is the law? It is nothing, in a free society, but the reflection of the people's collective morals. The statute is merely the image, accurate or inaccurate, of the general will.

If a majority of the people agree to forbid certain things they will be forbidden by law, but the law does not make the general moral code which grows within the people from many different sources and a continual contest of ideas.

MORALS, like economics, politics and fashions of all sorts, are in perpetual flux and what is immoral to one generation may be moral to another, or vice versa. It is commonly said that our morals are not as good as those of our grandparents but whether that is true or not, our morals have certainly changed and no law will prevent them changing.

The Supreme Court decision is important and historic as saying that the American people must have the right to consider these things freely, that a free society is wise enough to make the right decision. Otherwise it must be made by the all-powerful state whose morals, once it is all-powerful, are invariably corrupt, far more corrupt than Lady Chatterley or her lover.

Patronage Inevitable?

Your editorial, "Patronage on the Bench," should not be allowed to pass without comment.

The absurd criticism levelled at Justice Minister Davis Fulton is consistent with your policy of criticizing the activities of the federal government and constantly attacking its cabinet ministers. Such action is to be expected by such a prejudiced and bigoted section of the Liberal press.

Had you seen fit to seize this opportunity of wholeheartedly denouncing the patronage system of appointments to the Bench, I would have been happy to concur with your viewpoint. However, such a policy would be completely alien to the thinking of your Liberal friends who, probably without exception, consistently appointed Liberal lawyers to the Bench for 22 years to the end that political allegiance was usually regarded as the qualification of paramount importance in deciding the appointments.

To quote your editorial, "The elevation of cabinet ministers' partners to the Bench is something new and altogether too rough." Are you suggesting that such an appointment is rougher than the appointment of actual Liberal cabinet ministers and ex-cabinet ministers to the Bench; or had you forgotten that such a policy had been practised in the past? In British Columbia, the ex-chief justice, the late the Hon. Gordon Sloan, and Mr. Justice Manson, both previously served in the office of attorney-general in provincial Liberal governments as was the case in many other instances throughout the Dominion of Canada.

As far as is known to the writer, Mr. Justice Verchere has never held political office, and doubtless you will agree he was most eminent in professional circles in his part of the province. Are you suggesting that in spite of his outstanding professional capabilities, we should be denied the services of Mr. Verchere on the Bench just because he at one time professionally associated with the present minister of justice?

Had Mr. Fulton, when first he became minister of justice during the summer of 1957, advised his former partner to leave the firm bearing the Justice Minister's name in order to escape your style of criticism in the event of a subsequent appointment to the Bench, then an attack against the minister would have been most proper and, in fact, essential.

I personally feel that it is unfortunate that patronage will from time to time occur in such appointments, but I am confident from my experience in politics that it is inevitable.

Once again, you have levelled an unwarranted attack on a federal cabinet minister. On this occasion your fire is directed at a native son of British Columbia, one whose integrity is unquestioned by people of all political parties, and I am quite frankly amazed that you should have had the audacity to try and feed such nonsense to your readers.

Nobody Wins

One cannot help but visualize how Premier Khrushchev must gloat at the widespread labor unrest that besets this North American continent. It is such a contrast from that which prevails in the Communistically controlled areas.

Well, we may find out the why and wherefore sooner than we may expect. This labor agitation, with all its ramifications should surely influence our city council against assuming any further involvement of the general taxpayers in the project for a new hall, no matter how attractive the bait mentioned by the Times of $4.00 per year.

On June 1, 1959, Times' page 52, I note details of a strike which lasted 101 days, re St. Louis Globe-Democrat, where 332 employees lost wages estimated at $600,000 and the Globe-Democrat lost in subscribers and advertising $5 million. The publisher, Richard H. Amberg stated, "No one wins a strike that lasts as long as this one." I would ask, "Could that illustration be of any value here?"

Different Worlds

By JOSEPH ALSOP

IT accepts signals from thermocouples, flow, pressure and other transducers. IT measures these signals, digitizes them and prints their values. A thermocouple reference even can also be supplied, to permit IT to accommodate three types of inputs, which are automatically linearized over their entire range to within 0.1 per cent of accuracy.

The foregoing specimen of prose is not a visiting Martian's first murderous attack on the English language. These secret sentences do not come, either, from any deep and abstruse work of science.

These sentences were penned on Madison Avenue, in fact, by a hard-selling man in a gray flannel suit. Their publication was paid for with a great corporation's carefully budgeted advertising dollars. The IT of their mad drama is something called a logger-scanner. IT also has pinboard programming. IT can log all variables automatically. And IT can scan off-normal alarm points between logging cycles.

Special Audience

All these remarkable facts are here recorded because it really ought to be news when even advertisements become hermetic and incomprehensible. To be sure, the intended audience of this particular advertisement is rather special. In an increasingly vain effort to keep abreast of our complicated times, this reporter reads "The Scientific American." Catching up on the most recent issues, the reporter found the gem of prose quoted above, which was aimed at scientists and technicians with an itch to have their variables automatically logged.

Maybe it's a bit ridiculous, moreover, to be surprised because even the advertising men have begun to speak a secret language. If you have read "The Scientific American" regularly in these last years, there are two things you learn. On the one hand, there is no end to the beauty and surprise of the strange world of modern science. But on the other hand, as the years go by, more and more provinces of this strange world are passing beyond the ken of ordinary men.

The beauty and surprise are the sufficient rewards of the unchained explorer of this strange world. The riddle of an ancient lump of bronze, sea-eroded by more than 20 centuries in the Aegean, is read at last. And from this lump of bronze it is discovered that the old Greeks could also make computers.

Or orphaned monkeys are offered the odd choice between a bleak, wire-made imitation mother with breasts that give real milk, or a milk-less but soft and warm imitation mother made of heated towelling. And so it is discovered that the psychologists have been wrong all along; an infant's love of mother does not derive from the material need of nourishment, but from some deeper need to be cuddled and softly reassured.

Or rockets bear telescopes and spectroscopes aloft, to acquire new data on the inner make-up of the sun that warms our earth. Or other telescopes, soaring in balloons, bring back the somehow, cozy news that the sun's gaseous inferno boils with the surface pattern of paraffin heated in a shallow dish. Or some one mingles dissociated cells from mouse embryos and chick embryos. And thus it is learned that despite the most unexpected mixture, cells meant to build kidneys and cells meant to make cartilage will obstinately go on doing their kidney-forming and cartilage-forming duties.

Layman Stirred

Even to the layman, there is something wonderfully stirring in this unending, painstaking, fantastic exploration of all the many universes we simultaneously inhabit, from the infinitely great universe of the cosmos to the infinitely tiny universe of the life process itself. But to the layman, there is also something genuinely upsetting in the tendency ludicrously illustrated by the advertisement of the logger-scanner—what, ever that may be.

It is a tendency which has also caused grave concern among a few wise men of science, like Sir C. P. Snow and Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer. It is the tendency of our once united culture to break up into two quite separate cultures.

First, there is the culture of ordinary men, who may learn to read archaic Latin or ancient Chinese, but can hardly hope to read the scientists writing in their own language. And then, increasingly set apart, there is also the culture of the scientists, who write and think and work for one another, and even have their own advertising copywriters nowadays, with a special hard sell couched in the scientists' jargon.

The separation of the culture would not be so disquieting, if each did not blindly use the other. Left to themselves, the scientists would only use their rockets to explore the cosmos. Left to themselves, the ordinary men could not make intercontinental ballistic missiles, or any of the other instruments we now possess to change the balance of nature itself.

Naturally, on a Continental holiday loss of sleep over the documents is unavoidable. By the time you've separated the English train tickets from the French, and both those from the boat-tickets, and made sure you've got your seat reservations from London to Dover, and I om Calais to Paris, and your sleepers from Paris, and your meal-tickets and your cabin both ways and your passports and registered luggage receipts and the last two letters from the hotel, in case they deny all knowledge of you when you get there, and your francs and lire and your travellers' cheques, and the landing-ticket they gave you on the boat and forgot to take away again but somehow you feel you must hang on to it just in case—well, it's hard to believe there was a time when you thought all this stuff was never going to turn up from the travel agency; all you wish is that it never had.

The Getaway

WHAT'S that? Mum gets so rattled when we're going on a camping trip? Nonsense! Mum's not rattled. She's just quietly going nuts, and at the stage of wondering whether the whole thing's worth it.

But, inconsistent woman that she is, she'd feel very flat and cross if you suddenly called the whole trip off. For she's baked the pies, cooked the ham, made the bread and put two cakes and a meat loaf in the freezer. ("Remember to take them out in the morning. Wait a minute, I must put that on my list.")

For the list is the keyword. So long as she has her list, she'll be okay. Look, she has it now, clutched firmly as she fights her way through the swirl of kids and conversation. (Three of her own and one borrowed for the trip.)

Let's listen to Mum for a moment as she talks to her husband, Ted, and to the excited children.

"No John, you can't go over to Billy's in the morning because we're leaving at 7.30 on the dot because we're not going to rush this trip at all. We're going to do it easily, and drive safely and sensibly all the way."

"Diane dear, leave that sleeping bag alone. That's for Jim. Yours is rolled up and all ready to be put into the car. Yes, your clean pajamas are rolled up in it so they'll be right there when you want them."

"Your runner boots, Dick? I haven't the faintest idea. I put them tidily beside your bed this morning. If you moved them from there, then the Lord only knows where they've got to. Go and look for them and have them absolutely ready and clean for the morning."

"Jim hasn't a bathing towel? But, I know his mother sent him with one. At the Lake last night? Well, it's a comfort to know that someone else's child is as feckless as my own. Give him the striped one from the kitchen cupboard. It's on its last legs anyway, so it he loses it, it really doesn't matter.

"The can opener, Ted? Yes, I've remembered the can opener this time. But I'm leaving the axe, the rope, the flashlight, and the gasoline lantern to you. The First Aid Box is checked and ready. You can put it in the car any time you like. But cross it off this list if you do."

"Jim, the bathing suits. They're dry and on the line. Would you bring them in and put them in the duffle bag?"

"You know, he's a nice kid, Ted. But, like the others, he's reached the stage when he must be given something definite to do. Otherwise, he stands in the middle of the kitchen and asks questions until I'm almost driven nuts."

"No, Diane. Not those shorts. The zipper's gone, and I haven't had time to mend it. Well, the red ones, the red ones and the T shirt. That's what we decided this morning."

"John! That box of food is already packed and checked. If you start poking about in it, and taking things out, I'll send you straight off to bed. It's almost your bedtime anyway. If you're hungry, there's bread in the breadbox, and jam in its usual place on the bottom shelf. And if you're not bread and jam hungry, then you're not hungry at all."

Yes, Mum's patience is wearing a trifle thin. Her legs are tired, her head is spinning, and she's beginning to pick things up and put them down, and forget where she's put them. Two hours from now, her husband will say again, "Aren't you ever coming to bed?"

"Yes, dear," she'll say brightly, and start rummaging in the food box because she's just had a horrible thought that perhaps, after all, she didn't put the fruit juice in.

Hope for Deaf

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

At a recent meeting of the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otolological Society, held at Hot Springs, Virginia, Dr. Samuel Rosen of New York City, said that 90 out of the first 100 deaf patients who had their stapes (tiny bone in the ear) mobilized or loosened up, were hearing better than they had done before. Dr. Clair M. Kos, of the Iowa Medical School, said that 54 per cent of his patients were hearing decidedly better, five years after this type of operation. Some of the patients, after hearing well for a while, had slipped back a bit, but in half of them, the improvement was lasting.

At the meeting of the ear men, Dr. Bruce Proctor, of Detroit, called attention to the fact that the ear, nose, and throat men keep seeing many persons whose ear noises are due to a little stroke, such as, for years, I have been describing. This, for a time, may cause difficulty in swallowing, or the persons may see double, or may be dizzy or may have some failure in health, and in his ability to work. Because of ear noises, dizziness and perhaps nausea, these people often are suspected of having Meniere's disease. But this is a disease of the inner ear which causes an impairing of hearing; and hence, when the ear man finds no sign of any disease in the ear, he can rule out Meniere's disease. What is unfortunate is that there is no very good treatment for ear noises of any kind, and especially for those that are due to a little stroke.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Variety Attracts Visitors

It takes a few remarks by the summer visitors to make us really appreciate the wide variety of plants which thrive here.

During the past week we've been talking to folks from the state of Kansas and others from Toronto. Both groups were unanimous in their praise and appreciation of our city parks and the home gardens of the residential areas.

Admittedly, Kansas is in a dry prairie area, where it would be pretty difficult to maintain either a park or a private garden, but Toronto, the city of homes (and churches) has always been recognized as having a favorable climate, for Ontario that is.

It seems that apart from shrub and tree background plantings it is the massing of colorful annuals and perennials which catches the visitors' eyes.

Judging from the news in the various horticultural trade magazines, there must be many millions of bedding plants sold each spring in each centre of population across the continent.

What happens to them? One does not seem to come across many private gardens elsewhere with even a few dozen of the colorful bedding plants so commonly seen here. We can only conclude that they succumb to the elements after being planted.

Here, with our slower season changes, the bedding plants apparently stand still for weeks until in June they feel the warmth of the soil and air. The root systems have already made the foundations for bountifully flowering plants and our cool coastal climate maintains them in bloom right through the season until frost finishes them.

We can't take all the credit for the results, but nobody could blame us for that slightly smug feeling when visitors praise and marvel at the results of our labors.

Police Fear Race Riots in Harlem

NEW YORK (AP)—Police commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, frankly fearful of a race riot, threw additional police details into all Negro sections of the city Wednesday. The move was the aftermath of Monday's near-riot in Harlem.

To critics who accused him of creating a police state in Harlem Kennedy replied:

"That is a ridiculous, outrageous statement. It is my duty to protect law-abiding citizens there. Incipient race riots if permitted to go unchecked spread like wildfire and result in disorder and injury to the innocent, and they don't correct the real basis of the tension."

Kennedy attributed tension in Harlem to factors over which police have no control—housing, schools, and economic and social factors. He added:

"Tensions, because of these conditions, build up and police are made the scapegoats."

"A race riot would cause more destruction of community relations than an atom bomb and the lingering effect of such a riot would be worse for the community than the fallout of an A-bomb."

Harlem's last race riot was in 1943. Six Negroes were killed.

In Monday's Harlem incident, two policemen were shot and slightly wounded as an angry crowd surged on them after they arrested a woman of Italian and Puerto Rican descent. The gun of one of the officers accidentally discharged.

REPORTED BEATEN

A report spread that police had beaten the woman, Mrs. Carmela Cavaglione. This brought a sullen crowd of 500 to a Harlem police station, where they milled around threateningly. They finally dispersed after some 40 extra police were rushed in and after middleweight boxing champion Sugar Ray Robinson exhorted them to leave.

Theatrical 'War of Nerves' Launched Against Trujillo

HAVANA (AP)—Enemies of the Dominican dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, have opened a war of nerves against him.

Led by Dominican exiles, who seek to unseat the veteran ruler and give his people freedom to choose a new government, barrages of words are being beamed at the Caribbean nation from three directions.

From Cuba various radio transmitters bombard Trujillo's country with threats and propaganda, some of it billed as originating from rebel radios within the Dominican Republic.

Other propaganda volleys are fired from Caracas and Puerto Rico—all aimed at rallying sufficient support to drive the generalissimo from his seat of power.

Some programs depend on rumors or half truths for their effectiveness. Some make their own reports of what is going on inside and outside the Dominican Republic.

The effect of this campaign on Trujillo is uncertain. It is probable he has been shaken much more severely by the defection of two trusted diplomats—his ambassador to Ecuador and one of his representatives before the UN.

'NO EARLY SOLUTION' SEEN FOR STEEL STRIKE

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government's chief labor peacemaker Wednesday night put off further formal meetings with the steel disputants until Monday and said he does not think the strike is "susceptible to easy or early solution."

A FORESTER'S TRAVELS

By Fran Robinson

HELSINKI—This city will come as a surprise to anyone expecting the classical European capital, with its array of centuries-old buildings. It breathes of youth and space, and is wonderfully clean and colorful. The wide streets, the modern architecture, the vigor in the busy crowds, the commerce—all spell newness and vitality.

Although Helsinki was founded in the 17th century, it was rebuilt in 1840 after a fire destroyed large areas. To a Canadian, it seems to combine the best of the old and the new. You can feel the strong influence of tradition in the handicrafts, the theatre, and the literature, with the constant reference to the "Kalevala"—the Land of Heroes, the national epic poem based on legends of the Finnish people. But you have only to look at their modern architecture, the apartment buildings in shapes and colors we haven't dreamed of yet; to hear the strong pure themes in their music, to know that here is pioneer spirit, with a sensitive awareness of beauty.

Prominent Landmarks

I arrived on a Sunday, which gave me a chance to look about without the usual weekday crowds. The central part is well laid out, and it is almost impossible to get lost if you recognize two or three landmarks. The Great Church, designed by Engel, is in the classical tradition, with its shining dome and white sculptured figures, with a great staircase to the main doors. Stockmann's and Sokos department stores, the latter very new, dominate the shopping area on Mannerheim Way, and further down the street stands the imposing Post Office, again modern in design. The Helsinki Railway Station was designed by Saarinen, and has most unusual sculptured figures at the entrance. Its massive shape, and the adjoining open squares, make it the real hub of the city.

Practical Students

I settled in at "Domus Academica," about 10 minutes' walk from the city centre. It houses university students during the winter terms, but is opened to the public during the summer. I must digress here for a moment to say a word about the university students' society in Finland. It is truly amazing. Small wonder Finland has been able to pull herself out of the terrible aftermath of war when she inspires or trains (I don't know which) students in practical economics and business to such an extent. Domus is one of the many large residences built by the strong student society. The state has nothing to do with financing these ambitious building programs. Students themselves have built up their society resources by sound investments and planning. I am told that they own half the business section in Helsinki, but this may be slightly exaggerated. But they do invest in other enterprises besides the real estate, and make a very substantial income each year. As a company they avoid heavy taxes by awarding scholarships to their students. Canadians could learn a lot from these enterprising Finns.

Store Like HBC

Stockmann's was one of the first shops I visited. It's nearly as big as our H.B.C., and inside it has many galleries around a central part open the whole height of the building. I saw wood carvings, silver and copper work, colorful Lapp articles, heavy crystal, and the "ryly", a hanging woollen rug with its traditional design. The Arabia porcelain is everywhere, for Helsinki is its home. The Kalevala Koru is peculiar metal jewelry with mystic symbols in their design—an art copied for at least a thousand years.

Tourist Trouble?

But some things in Helsinki will bother Canadians, I think. You wait for hours for your meal in a "ravintola", a restaurant. They seem to think that your time is their time; but perhaps the Finns aren't bothered with ulcers. The dime cup of coffee doesn't exist.

Coffee is taxed as a luxury, and so is very expensive. You can pay 20 to 60 cents a cup for it. Fruit, too, even from the market vendors, is expensive. Generally, meals are cheaper than ours, and the quality and preparation are infinitely better.

The city is filled with music lovers from all over the world for one of the leading musical events, the Sibelius Festival, held in the University Great Hall. Every night this week we have been given such tremendous musical offerings that I have been completely overwhelmed.

But the powerful symphonies stem from the composer's communion with nature and his strong patriotism. His music, more than anything else, I think, will give you an insight into this nation.

Good Gastronomes

And what is there to see around the metropolis? For the young at heart "Linnanmaki" is a must. It is Helsinki's "Coney Island," and beautifully set on a hill in town. If you are sport-minded, and the Finns certainly are, the Olympic Stadium will interest you. The Children's Castle is really a hospital for children, and probably the last word in sick child care. It has a unique sculptured exterior design. And do go, as I did, to Kesikartana, a celebrated restaurant in the city. There you'll have "smorgasbord", the feast, so well known in all Scandinavian countries. I can't begin to tell you about all the delicacies, but suffice to say that you'll enjoy yourself gastronomically.

The Finns can prepare food, and no mistake.

KHRUSHCHEV

Poles Silent At Attack On Religion

KATOWICE, Poland (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev delivered an attack on religion Wednesday before a crowd of Roman Catholic Poles. He drew no cheers for his claim that communism could give more in life than religion.

The 66-year-old Soviet leader, looking weary and worn, arrived in this mining town in one of the strongest Roman Catholic sections of Poland with Polish Communist chief Wladislaw Gomulka.

"I do not want to wound your religious sentiments," Khrushchev said, "but I want to underline that priests in your church promise you paradise in the sky after you are dead. But we Communists make you happy on earth."

'WE'LL NEVER, NEVER START A WAR'

Khrushchev Makes a Promise

SOSNOWIEC, Poland (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev said today Russia "Never, never, never" will launch a war, but he added he would welcome an uprising by any nation against capitalist "robbers."

The Soviet premier was speaking to an International Mineworkers' Congress during the third day of his 12-day goodwill visit to Poland.

In an hour's speech to the congress, Khrushchev said: "Brothers, we give you our solemn promise that never, never, never shall we launch any war against anybody."

WORKERS' STRUGGLE

Later in the speech, Khrushchev made several references to the working classes of non-Communist countries and their internal struggle against capitalism.

"I am sure that capitalist journalists will say that Khrushchev was calling on you to make an uprising," he told the miners delegates from 25 countries.

"Not at all."

"But if a nation rises it will rise in the struggle for its interests. I shall welcome that nation because it will fight its own just cause, for its own interests, for the freedom of the workers and for the freedom of utilizing the results of work. What is more lofty than to fight against robbers?"

WORD FOR THE WEST

Addressing the world's capitalists, Khrushchev said: "You say you believe in God."

If there were a God, and if he could... he would take a broom and sweep you out."

The 150 delegates, mainly from Communist-led unions, applauded as Khrushchev added:

"Well, if people condemn us for our revolutionary activities, I would... quote the Bible and say when the money changers started doing business in the Temple, Jesus Christ expelled them from the temple."

Khrushchev defended Stalin's 1939 non-aggression pact with Hitler.

He said that if Britain and France had been against Hitler there would have been no war. They had wanted the war to be directed against the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev attended the congress while the rest of the Soviet delegation visited the former concentration camp at Auschwitz.

The 60-year-old premier seemed tired Wednesday night after a swift tour of Silesian towns. He sat quietly at a banquet in his honor after a brief exchange of toasts in white wine.

TELLING ON QUEEN

The Queen gave a hint Wednesday that Canada's pace is beginning to tire her—and she faces a real barnstorming day in Victoria Friday.

Although she made an effort to appear bright and smiling when she boarded HMCS Assiniboine for her overnight journey to Nanaimo, the Queen appeared weary.

Earlier, at an informal civic luncheon in Vancouver, she told Mayor Tom Alsbury she found the pace of the tour "more intensive" than she was accustomed to in Britain.

Mayor Alsbury said afterwards the Queen remarked on the heavy burden borne by public men.

She specifically mentioned President Eisenhower—whom she met at the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway—and Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

The Queen also said she prefers to travel by train rather than plane because she has time to relax properly between stops.

But although today's program on Vancouver Island is not too strenuous — partly because a scheduled visit to a sawmill at Chemainus has been dropped—Friday's Victoria events will be a whirl.

She will be on the go from 10 a.m., when she visits Veterans' Hospital, to 10 p.m., when she watches an illuminated fleet display.

GETTING TO KNOW US

And Pincurls
In B.C. Parade

By Canadian Press

In British Columbia so far, the royal visit has been something of a come-as-you-are party.

This has been true everywhere, especially at the whistle-stops, and has given Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip a chance to see Canadians as they are day in and day out.

Aides of the royal couple say this is as the Queen prefers it.

Right from the start in B.C. it has been this way, and perhaps it has given the royal couple an insight into the way we live.

There was the woman with her hair in pincurls, probably preparing for a party later; the shirtless workmen in hard hats and hobnail boots, ready to return to mountain-tunnel work when the royal train had passed; and the man with his thumbs hooked behind his broad suspenders, likely a good story teller in the general store.

The blue jeans, boots and broad-brimmed hat identified the working cowhand in Kamloops. Everywhere nurses' uniforms stood out with those of theatre ushers who had just run out to the street for a glimpse, and with those of cab drivers, service station attendants and other uniformed employees, stopped briefly from their tasks.

'Native' Costumes

The sun-tanned legs of many of the women in shorts were revealing, too—a tourist,

COLOR CEREMONY

Invites Its Mexican

The only Mexican to serve in the Canadian forces during the Second World War will be on hand when the Queen presents the color to the King's Own Calgary Rifles in Beacon Hill Park Friday.

Jesus Nava, of Guadalajara, Mexico, came to Victoria with his English wife Wednesday to watch the ceremony, at the invitation of his former regiment.

He joined the Canadian forces in 1940 through the Seaforth Highlanders, changing his name when told Mexicans were not permitted to join.

He became George Hodgins, of Toronto, a fictitious name he kept throughout the war. He rose to the rank of sergeant, transferring to the King's Own when it was reformed in 1941.

Accompanying the Navas is Brig. G. R. Bradbrooke, former commander of the King's Own Calgary Rifles.

Tell the Story

perhaps, or a woman who enjoys the outdoors.

Among the youngsters, a baseball uniform, football sweater or bare feet and swimming trunks told a story.

Golfers, shirtless and holding their golf clubs; swimmers in trunks along the walls of the pools; and the boys atop the bath house wearing only a towel around their waists were also seen.

These, and thousands of other costumes—including those of placard-carrying strikers—were in the crowds that lined up to see the royal visitors everywhere during their first six days in B.C.

A member of the Queen's household said both the Queen and Prince Philip take note of the spectators, just as the reverse is going on. Then he added:

"The Queen wants to see Canadians as they live, not all dressed up and stuffed."

Now We'll See if it Leaks ...
Said the Prince in the Tunnel

By PETE LOUDON
(Times Staff Reporter)

VANCOUVER — Now we'll see if it leaks or not, Prince Philip said Wednesday as he entered the Deas Island tunnel.

British Columbia highways minister P. A. Gagliardi said the prince wasn't taken in by the term "official opening" and was aware the tunnel across the south arm of the Fraser has been in operation since May.

"He asked me if it had been necessary to close the tunnel before we could 'open' it and I told him, 'Yes, it has been closed since 9 a.m.," recalled Mr. Gagliardi. "The Queen was not so well informed. "She asked me if it was a bridge."

Mr. Gagliardi said the Queen was "most gracious and extremely attentive."

There were about 2,000 persons at the tunnel opening. The Queen cut the ribbon with silver scissors and in keeping with the superstition that you must return money to anyone giving you a cutting instrument, she handed Premier Bennett a shiny dime.

The royal journey through the tunnel was uneventful.

Though the crowds lining Vancouver streets were thinner than those who greeted Margaret last year, those who stayed away weren't the pushy type.

They swarmed over barriers at the tunnel 500 strong and outside Vancouver Hotel motorcycle policemen almost had to drive into the crowd in order to clear a passage for the royal procession.

The turnout was disappointing at Empire Stadium where about 12,000 children gathered but 22,000 seats remained empty. A football game has drawn 44,000 to the park.

Those who were there were exuberant. They had lined up, needlessly, it developed, almost five hours before the Queen's arrival. But they

ONE GOOF AFTER ANOTHER, BUT ROARING SUCCESS

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Queen and Prince Philip arrived 25 minutes late for dinner at the Faculty Club at the University of British Columbia here Wednesday evening.

The menu consisted of tenderloin of beef, Pacific salmon, new potatoes, green beans, endive salad, fresh strawberries, special pastries and coffee.

VANCOUVER — During a 20-minute stop at Shaughnessy Military Hospital a patient drew a series of chuckles from Prince Philip.

Daniel McDonald, a 66-year-old veteran being treated for a heart ailment, recalled that he attended the Smith Riding School at Maidenhead, England, where the then Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose frequently went riding.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip burst into prolonged laughter here Wednesday night when a four-year-old boy waved from the stage at an open-air performance at the Theatre Under the Stars.

Timothy Zimich was playing the part of one of the six children of Nadina and Bumerli in an abbreviated version of "The Chocolate Soldier."

The Royal Elevator Wouldn't Work;
And They Put Her In Blinding Sun

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — The royal elevator wouldn't work; the pull cord over a plaque failed to function; the kids got mixed up around the maypole; the sabots of the Dutch dancers flew off; and the new Queen Elizabeth Theatre was nearly misnamed.

But if its slips were showing, Vancouver's heart was in the right place Wednesday when the Queen and Prince Philip came to town for 12 crowded public hours.

The formal program may have consisted of one goof after another, but the informal program — the welcome by thousands lining the streets — was a roaring success.

After the strenuous day, the Queen looked relieved to board the destroyer Assiniboine Wednesday night for a leisurely cruise to Nanaimo, where she today began a two-day visit to Vancouver Island.

The boobos began right off the bat when the Queen was seated so that the sun shone directly into her eyes and she couldn't see the Maypole dancers. This seating arrangement was repeated later at the stadium but this time the Queen came prepared—she raised her beige parasol.

The elevator in the Vancouver Hotel wouldn't work after the Queen got into it to ascend to the 14th floor. She had to transfer, just like a bus commuter.

Curtain Stuck, and Chorus Drowned

The pull cord for a curtain over a plaque being unveiled by the Queen to mark the opening of a new tunnel under the Fraser River didn't work properly when the Queen yanked it. She had to pull the curtain back by hand.

At the Theatre Under the Stars, RCMP motorcycles drowned out the opening chorus, causing the Queen to glance in the direction of the noise.

At the naming of the new Queen Elizabeth Theatre, R. T. Rose, chairman of the management board, announced that the Queen had graciously consented to the structure being named the "Royal . . ." He corrected himself nastily.

During the day, the Queen wore a turquoise blue silk topcoat over a turquoise blue and white printed dress with pleated skirt. Her small hat was of white straw and white chiffon.

For dinner at the University of British Columbia Faculty Club, she wore a white satin evening gown with bodice and hem appliqued with rose-colored lace, re-embroidered with pink crystals. She also wore a diamond and pearl tiara and necklace and large pearl teardrop earrings.

Attendance at the formal functions was far below expectations.

Some 10,000 children had been expected to welcome the Queen at Queen's Park in New Westminster, but only some 4,000 turned up.

Thirty thousand or more children had been expected at Empire Stadium, but less than half this number attended. The Theatre Under the Stars performance of "The Chocolate Soldier" did not draw a capacity audience.

A precaution against grass fires during Royal visit ceremonies at Beacon Hill Park Friday, Ald. Austin Curtis suggested today that citizens carry ashtrays in their pockets to make sure their cigarettes are put out before throwing them away.

Ald. Curtis, a fire warden and a member of the Royal visit committee, said every precaution has been taken to prevent grass fires during the civic reception at Beacon Hill Friday morning.

A fire truck equipped with radio will be stationed in the park, he said.

"But we still want people to be careful," he said.

ROYAL CLOSE SHAVE
SOLVED BY MOUNTIE

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — The RCMP has been called on to do many things in its history but an emergency call Wednesday morning probably will go down as one of the strangest.

A constable rushed out to the royal train parked on a siding before it took the Queen and Prince Philip into New Westminster.

He was given a broken electric shaver and told to have it repaired and get it back before the Queen left the train at 10 a.m.

The constable rushed to Vancouver, had the repairs done and got it back to the train in time. It is not known who owned the shaver.

PARKING SPACE AT BEACON HILL

How to See Fireworks

Ample parking facilities will be provided at Beacon Hill park Friday night for Victorians watching the fireworks display and illumination of the fleet.

All but three vehicle entrances to the park will be barricaded for the 10 p.m. display watched by the Queen and Prince Philip from the balcony of Government House.

Special parking areas may be reached from: Douglas and the park entrance facing Simcoe, from the corner of Heywood and Park Boulevard.

The areas are: Soccer field adjoining Douglas St., regular parking lot near the deer pen, two areas between the deer pen and the cricket pitch, and just inside the park off Rupert.

ABOARD HMCS SKEENA—A fouled anchor, ironically the device worn in the Royal Canadian Navy crest, became a real threat to the manoeuvres of four destroyers escorting the Queen Wednesday night.

The four escorts, HMCS Fraser, Margaree, Skeena, and St. Laurent, formed a marine guard for HMCS Assiniboine which carried the Queen and Prince Philip between Vancouver and Nanaimo overnight.

All the ships' companies were on edge. Their ships shone like a chief's button at departure time, captains were on their bridges, officers nervously attentive and midshipmen as nonchalant as the victims at a hanging.

Assiniboine, only one of the squadron to dock, slid away from her pier with the royal standard flying from the masthead. Fraser and Margaree steamed into line astern, then it was Skeena's turn.

But aboard Skeena, the egg had hit the fan. Sub-Lieutenant Dave Mildon watched tragically as the anchor broke surface, trailing a heavy cable. The message to the bridge exploded like a direct hit. "Anchor is fouled, sir."

Immediate concern was that the anchor flukes might have snagged a submarine telephone or power line and any moment now, the lights would all go out on the north shore.

Frantic Signals Fly Back and Forth

Signals flew back and forth. Finally Skeena was told, "prepare to slip your anchor. Drop it to the bottom with a buoy attached."

But chief shipwright, or "Chips" Charley Butterworth who had served aboard longer than anyone else, attacked the wire furiously with bare hands. He learned the mess was a tangle of two-inch wire rope, jettisoned by some earlier vessel. Working from the forepeak through an inspection plate, he cut it free with a torch while Skeena took up night sailing position.

Skeena's captain, Commander W. M. Kidd, CD, unlike his private namesake, remained genial throughout and by dawn, Skeena's little flap was forgotten.

The excitement now was aboard Assiniboine. Men could be seen scrubbing and cleaning—dashing to and fro on white running shoes, worn by all crewmen, both to deaden the noise and to protect the paintwork. A single sentry stood on the flag deck with white web belt, garters, holster and armband.

At 9 a.m. the escorting vessels closed around Assiniboine, each in turn, passing 200 yards off her port beam, while lower decks were cleared to man and cheer ship. The royal couple waved from the flag deck of the senior ship.

Approaching Nanaimo while a helicopter and an RCAF plane soared nearby, the escort moved off, leaving Assiniboine to berth alone at the CPR wharf and set the Queen and Admiral of the Fleet, Prince Philip, ashore on Vancouver Island.

Skeena will have no personal souvenir of the royal visit. But the wardroom isn't miffed. In a plastic case in the senior officer's cabin, reposes a fountain pen—the pen used by King George VI and the Queen Mother in 1939, aboard the first Skeena while they were passengers in an earlier royal tour.

Royals Closing in On Soccer Crown

VANCOUVER (CP) — The powerful New Westminster Royals moved into an almost impregnable position in the lead of the Pacific Coast Soccer League Wednesday night defeating Vancouver Carlings, 3-1.

Top-Ranked Singles Ace Defaults

It was a day just like any other at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club junior tournament Wednesday — with one exception.
 Top-seeded John Harper was forced, by circumstance, to default a boy's singles match to Don McCormack. Otherwise all seeding held up down to the semifinals.
 Play in boys' under 15 and under 18 singles and under 15 doubles are out to the finals.
 Finals are all set to start Saturday at 11 a.m. at the club's Amphion Street courts.

SOLARIUM DERBY

Like most enthusiastic fishermen in the Victoria area, Jack James will be out at Saanich Inlet Sunday to try and land the big prize in the Solarium Derby.

Unlike most, however, he will have to limit his fishing. He'll be weighing in fish for all entrants at Hall's boathouse from approximately 10 a.m. until the derby ends at 2 p.m.
 Jack, 30, is always ready to combine work with pleasure. He does the same by selling derby tickets.
 "Sure it's fun to sell," he says. "I know that I'm doing something worthwhile in helping those crippled children."
 The hard-working angler has sold well over 100 tickets to qualify for membership in the derby's Century Club, but he will be glad to add to that total if you phone him at EV-5-0430.

PORTRAIT OF A SPECTATOR

Slight delay in start of Wednesday's Inter-City Lacrosse League game was caused by appearance of Nanaimo's Don Ashbee (right) in seat directly behind Labatt players' bench. Under indefinite suspension for striking referee in game at Nanaimo last Saturday, Ashbee is shown listening to floor officials request that he move 15 feet away from bench, as required by regulations. Unidentified Nanaimo executive sits with Ashbee while club president Bob Fawbry looks on from background (left). Ashbee moved and Labatts went on to clip Victoria 8-7 in rough game that dropped Shamrocks back into league basement. — (Robin Clarke Photo.)

Dodgers Like to Hear Hum of That Fast One

By UP International
 Some say it hums, some say it whistles, but no matter what it does, Don Drysdale's fast ball sure sounds like pennant music to the Dodgers' ears.
 Standing up at the plate against the side-arming Drysdale is like facing a firing squad without a blindfold, according to National League hitters.

The six-foot, five-inch Los Angeles right-hander is sheer murder on right-handed batters when he fires those sizzling fast balls at them by way of third base. Some of those hitters don't seem to know whether to wince or wind their watch.
 Drysdale turned in that type of performance Wednesday night when he pitched a three-hitter and struck out seven Pittsburgh batters in a 3-0 victory that lifted the Dodgers within one game of the National League lead.

The victory was Drysdale's 11th against six losses and those seven strikeouts increased his total to 147 in 170 1/2 innings—tops in the majors. Drysdale held the Pirates hitless until Danny Kravitz opened the fifth inning with a single. The only other hits off him were Dick Groat's sixth-inning double and a single by Dick Stuart in the seventh.

To complete his night's work, the 22-year-old Drysdale doubled off loser Bob Friend to drive in two runs in the seventh. The loss was Friend's 11th in 15 decisions and marked the ninth straight time he started against the Dodgers and failed to finish.

BRAVES BOPPED
 Chicago Cubs tightened their hold on fifth place with a 5-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 11-5. Rain caused postponement of the San Francisco-Philadelphia game.

In the American League, Washington took over fifth place and dropped Detroit to sixth by beating the Tigers, 3-0, in a game limited to five innings by rain. The rain also washed out a doubleheader between the Indians and Yankees and single games between the White Sox and Red Sox and the Athletics and Orioles.

Glen Hobbie of the Cubs checked the Braves on five hits in winning his 10th game of the season. The victory was Hobbie's fifth straight.

WILLOUGHBY GOING GREAT

Dick Moving in High Gear Now

It looks as if Dick Willoughby is off and running in the Vancouver Island stock car driving point race.
 The youthful veteran, who finished ninth in the individual point standings last year, has this year been staging a hot battle with a pair of Nanaimo drivers—Bob Clarke and Hank Neilson—for the runner-up position behind Dave Cooper.

He has been high up in the point standings despite the fact that he didn't win a trophy dash this year until July 4th and didn't come first in a main event until last Saturday.
 If the 27-year-old driver keeps up his current pace, he will soon be challenging Cooper for the lead.
 Cooper, Dick feels, is "the best, bar none. Give everybody the same car," he says, "and Cooper would take the race."

Irish Fall Back In Cellar As Dugan Leads Labs Out

Nanaimo 8, Shamrocks 7
 By ERNIE FEDORUK

Some of the folks didn't particularly care for the refereeing in Wednesday's Inter-City Lacrosse League tussle at Memorial Arena.

Victoria Shamrock coach Norm Baker admitted "seeing better."

"But the referees weren't scoring goals out there," said Baker.

The usually easy-going Saanich policeman had his dander up, and the referees didn't irk him as much as some of his players.

"We should have beaten that club by 10 goals. Instead, we played right into their hands. The boys were walking when they should have been running and 99 per cent of their shots were directed straight at (Fred) Fulla."
 "It was awful," said Baker.

Dugan Sent Away Winning Drive

Goals by Skip MacKay, Gary Moore and Arnie Dugan in the last five minutes gave Nanaimo the victory in a grueling, rough encounter.

The game, which threatened to get out of hand on several occasions, was a close-checking affair all the way.

Fulla blocked 25 shots, but many were key drives. Rival George Johnston stopped 23. Six other drives bounced off goalposts behind him in the scoreless third quarter.

Dugan, who took over coaching reins this week while regular playing-coach Don Ashbee is sitting out an indefinite suspension, was the big gun for Nanaimo. In addition to scoring twice, including the winner, he set up two other counters. Singles went to John Lumley, Ross Ross-kamp, MacKay, Spud Morelli, Moore and Don Sherry.

Bert Bertola scored four for the Rocks.

Ashbee took in Wednesday's encounter from a paid seat.

Yvon Arrives, Archie Hides

MONTREAL (CP) — Yvon Durelle returned to Montreal Wednesday from his home in Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., and immediately resumed training for his July 29 meeting with light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore.

Durelle's weight was reported at 179, four pounds over the limit. He again set up his camp at nearby Ste. Anne de Bellevue. Durelle interrupted his training there for the trip home when the fight was postponed earlier this month. It was originally scheduled for Wednesday night.

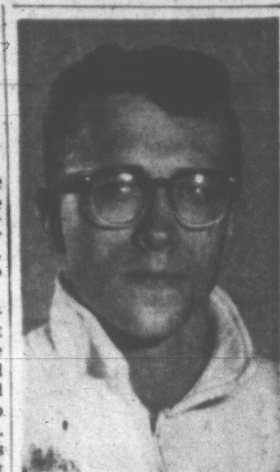

Meanwhile, Moore has his gymnasium workout in secret for the second successive day. The secrecy business, which ends Saturday, was the brain child of manager Jack (Doc) Kearns.

DUKE'S YACHT IN NINTH SPOT

TORONTO (CP) — The Duke of Edinburgh's dragon class yacht Bluebottle placed ninth in an exhibition race Wednesday.

Captains of other classes of yachts handled the dragon class boats.

ON HIS WAY to Pan-American Games is Lynn Eves, regarded as one of the best sprinters ever produced in Victoria. Eves left for Winnipeg Wednesday and is given "fair chance" of earning berth on Canadian team. Trials start Friday.

Olmedo Fans Are Tougher Than Rival

CHICAGO (AP) — Alex Olmedo spent more time signing autographs than he took in winning his opening singles match Wednesday in the National Clay Courts tennis tournament.

The top-seeded Davis Cup star and Wimbledon champion white-washed Gordon Fleming, of Flint, Mich., 6-0, 6-0.

After the match, Olmedo said he had wasted no time on his unranked foe because he faced a busy two days in catching up with the rest of the field.

Olmedo, the 23-year-old Peruvian star, was mobbed by autograph seekers before and after he completed.

Barry Mackay, of Dayton, Ohio, defeated David Nelson, of Skokie, Ill., in his first-round match, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Sue Butt, of Victoria, the lone Canadian remaining in competition, was defeated in the second round of women's singles play. She was defeated 6-1, 6-2, by Gwyneth Thomas, of Shakers Heights, Ohio.

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Coleman, 68, manager of the old Boston Braves, who has spent 50 years in professional baseball, was seriously ill in hospital today. Hospital officials declined to discuss the nature of his illness.

Menzies Caught Fire When it Counted

Menzies may not have done too much during the Victoria Babe Ruth League season, but nothing held them back in the playoffs.

Menzies finished the season in fourth place, mired hopelessly. But you couldn't have proven this by the playoffs.

The Menziemen on Wednesday at Athletic Park claimed the playoff championship behind the two-hit pitching of John Yankoski, beating UCT, 3-1.

Glen Myles led Vickers to the Cadboro Bay Little League championship, hitting a grand-slam homer as well as pitching nine-hit ball as his mates stopped News Kings, 18-10.

New Race Fad

By IAN SMITH

The racing machine revved into the corner, the driver straining to catch the leader.

He didn't make it, lost control, rolled over and came to a stop piled up in the bushes.

The driver clambered away, brushed off the dust, looked disgustedly at the slight rip in his shirt, and then calmly lifted his machine back onto the track.

An ordinary race? Of course not: the vehicle was a go-kart, the machine that appears to have brought racing within reach of the average man.

NOT MUCH

About six feet long, they are basically a frame with four small pneumatic tires, a steering wheel, a seat and one or two motors usually from a power saw or lawn mower.

For their size, they can usually go like the dickens.

Completely safe, according to the men who sell them, they are still ready to give the driver many thrills connected with sprint or stock car racing.

Go-karts have caught on all across the United States and now they are appearing in large numbers in Canada.

Victoria boasts a new, but rapidly expanding, organization of enthusiastic owners—the Greater Victoria Go-Kart Association—and a brand new paved track, the first one in Canada.

50 MEMBERS

Located at Island View Beach, the track is a one-tenth of a mile oval with one flat and one banked turn. On it, approximately 50 members of the association race their machines. An estimated 25 cars belong to members.

Association president Ed Kostenuk feels that these figures will expand greatly in the near future. The GVGA has only begun operation, but interest has already reached a high peak.

Chub Flitton, one of the young men responsible for the introduction of the little machines to Vancouver Island, explains it this way:

CLASSES VARY

"The initial outlay is about $200, although you can pay up to $500 if you want to get an expensive one. You don't have to pay that much if you don't have to, because machines race in separate classes which depend to a certain extent on the amount of money put into each car.

"Tires cost about $35 for a set and will last for at least two months.

"Gas? Maybe you use a gallon a week.

"There's no danger, either, even though you can get up to 40 miles per hour on the straightaways. We've had every conceivable type of accident out at Island View and the worst that has happened to anyone is a scratch."

To make sure no serious mishap occurs, however, the association has instituted a few basic safety rules. For instance, crash helmets must be worn at all times while operating a go-kart.

LOT OF FUN

Anyone can drive one. Children eight years of age have been driving at Island View and there's no limit, as long as the driver is spy.

The association held its first meet last Sunday, with Gary Foster and Gary Kershaw winning "A" and "B" class races respectively.

There were also women's and children's races, as well as a number of other events. The same program is expected to be staged this Sunday at 2 p.m., although plans have not been finalized.

The association will discuss the proposed meet at a meeting tonight, starting 8, at Island View Pavilion. They may not become as popular as hula hoops, but go-kart interest is going to boom.

"Incidentally, I wonder how old J. B. is getting along without us back at the office?"

DOW TALKS GOLF ... No. 36

No. 2 for Distance

(This is the 36th of an instructional golf series written for 32A and The Daily Times by Dow Finsterwald, U.S. Professional Golfers' Association champion who finished in the money in 72 consecutive tournaments. The series is designed to help the average golfer improve his game.)

By DOW FINSTERWALD

The long irons are the most difficult clubs to handle properly.

Unless you line up your shot correctly and meet the ball squarely, wildness is inevitable.

The two iron is for distance. It is the nearest thing to a wood among the irons. The face of the club is almost vertical, to give the ball a long, low flight rather than altitude.

The shaft is long, for an iron, so the maximum amount of power can be generated.

Grip the two iron as you would a wood, the left hand really doing the holding, the right held rather lightly, more as a steadying influence.

The ball should be addressed with the weight evenly distributed, the right shoulder slightly lower than the left.

Bend slightly from the waist and at the knees to compensate for the difference in shaft length between the two iron and the woods. There is com-

Boot Artists Require Rest

British Columbia's soccer officials are looking for a solution that may provide the province's top boot artists with a few months of rest.

And it is just possible that the Pacific Coast (summer) League may get the boot.

That was the inference supplied by Victoria Evcoe president Lou De Costa after his return from Tuesday's meetings with sponsors and executives.

"Something has to be done about that 12-month soccer program. We held the meeting to see if we could come up with any solution," De Costa said.

"It's just too long and too hard on the players who play in local winter leagues as well as the Coast League.

"We discussed a non-amateur form proposed by some of the Mainland clubs to stop players from competing in both leagues," he continued.

Among proposals brought forward was a suggestion that the winter schedule be divided from September to December and again from February through to May or June.

This, it was felt, would enable fans to relax and players would be able to renew their energy and enthusiasm.

NOT PAID

Some surprise was noted among the Vancouver sponsors that none of the Victoria players are salaried, as are most of the mainland booters.

The move, however, is expected to meet with stiff opposition from both the Victoria and District League and the Mainland League, whose star players are now being used by the six PCL clubs.

The Pacific Coast wheel starts turning again this Saturday with games at Macdonald Park and in Vancouver. Evcoe tackle the second-place Halecos, starting at 2:30, while Labatts and Continentals play in Vancouver's Callister Park.

paratively little turning of the hips, but a full shoulder swing is employed.

The right elbow is held close, the left straight. As the hands pass below the belt line and into the hitting area, the left arm pulls downward and the wrists uncock into the ball.

The feeling should be one of the right hand attempting to overtake the left arm.

'MAJOR' DISAPPOINTS; FOUL HELPS OUR BUTCH

Victoria-owned and bred Major Turley proved a large disappointment in his first start of the season Wednesday, finishing out of the money in the $2,000 Flamingo Hotel Handicap at Vancouver's Lansdowne Race Track.

Our Butch was made the winner although he came in in a dead heat with Deep Current.

Charlie Ulrich, rider of the Vancouver Island-bred Our Butch, claimed a foul against Deep Current's rider Jimmy Bloomfield and the judges made Our Butch the winner. Deep Current finished second with Mabe Mike third.

Mrs. Keating Wins Island Singles Title

Mrs. Ethel Keating of Victoria West Lawn Bowling Club is the new Vancouver Island women's singles champion.

Punjab United Cleans Up On Nanaimo

Punjab United didn't give Nanaimo a chance in their bantam division minor ladrosse game at Memorial Arena Wednesday, pounding the Hub City crew 15-3.

Nirmal Dillon, Jagminder Singh and Jerry Bains all fired hat tricks for Punjabs.

Scorers: Punjab United—Nirmal Dillon 3, Nirmal Dillon, Jagminder Singh 2, Jerry Bains 3, Chervin Dillon 2, Tri Dillon, Jasper Bonhoff, Alex MacLean, Total—15.

Nanaimo—Barry Nelson 2, Jack Morrell, Total—3.

Mrs. Keating won the Wengert Cup, emblematic of the title, by defeating Mrs. Agnes Donald of Burnside on Wednesday.

However, Mrs. Keating was not playing when the finals of the city singles championship began today at her home club. Reaching the city final were Mrs. Hilliard of Oak Bay, Mrs. A. McConnell of Lake Hill, Mrs. K. Dickie of Burnside and Mrs. B. Jenkins of Victoria West.

Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. E. Davidson, also of Vic West, teamed up Wednesday to capture the Stanley Cup women's doubles event.

The Vic West twosome defeated the Burnside team of Mrs. Dickie and Mrs. I. Stewart in the final.

Consolation winners were Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. A. Knops of Lake Hill.

Sooke Race On Friday

George Witham will be out to prove a point Friday when runners line up at Victoria's City Hall for the start of the third annual All-Sooke Day Marathon at 5:30 p.m.

Among contestants entered are Witham and Gordon Eve, both of whom have been training together for the event.

Witham hopes to prove that experience can counteract the fact that his running mate is just half his age.

Eve, at 20, was the first Island runner to complete the 23-mile grind last year and is perhaps the brightest hope of Island entrants to take the title this time out.

Witham, 40, was the eighth-place finisher in last year's race and the third Island runner across the finish line at Sooke Flats.

Eve is a converted track and field star from Milnes Landing who, a few years ago, was pushing the best high school cross country steppers.

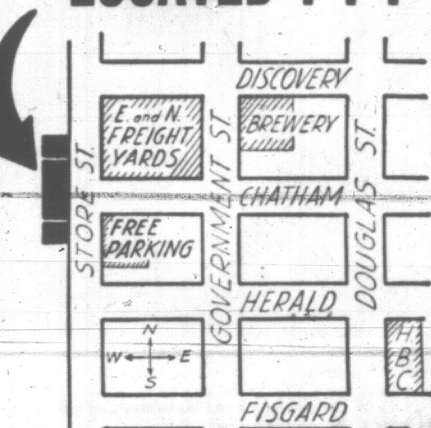

On the other hand, Witham has merely stepped up the pace he pursued in his native England and on the European continent as a road walker.

Three prizes are on tap for the race finishers. The Butler Trophy will go to the first man across the line. The first Sooke district finisher will get a separate award, as will the first Vancouver Island runner to finish.

Giants Need Space

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—If the surprising Giants take the National League pennant, you can bet they'll play their world series games in the new 42,500-seat Candlestick Park.

This was the word Wednesday from club president Horace Stoneham's office as the San Francisco team, which nobody figured to be up there, held a skimpy league lead over Milwaukee Braves.

"We are very confident the new stadium will be ready for the world series and, possibly, it will be open for our last home stand in September," a club spokesman said.

"There is no question, if we get in the world series, we will play there."

The management, paying relatively little heed at the moment to series talk, is trying to speed the move from the Giants' cramped 22,000-seat Seals Stadium in time for the 18-game home stretch series starting Sept. 2.

The world series opens Wednesday, Sept. 30, with the first two games in the park of the American League champions and the next three at the National League's stadium.

Par Points Winner

Mrs. G. D. Ball, scoring a total of 21, won the par points competition at Uplands Golf Club Tuesday. Mrs. T. J. Johnston was second, one point back.

BUYING, NOT BETTING BIGGEST GAMBLE

No Form Charts to Follow!

NEW YORK (AP)—Ask a horseman to name the biggest gamble in racing, and he'll tell you it's at the yearling sales ring—not at the pari-mutuel windows.

The highest price ever paid for a thoroughbred at the auction ring was the $87,000 Mrs. M. E. Lunn gave for Rise 'N' Shine at the Saratoga Springs, N.Y., yearling sales three summers ago. The colt won only four races and $16,965.

Mrs. Adele L. Rand got Clem at the 1955 Keeneland sales for $8,500, and the bargain buy has earned $535,505.

With the Keeneland sales set for July 27-29 and the Saratoga sales Aug. 10-14, prospective buyers are finger-finger their bankrolls and hoping for the best.

Leslie B. Comb II, owner of Spendthrift Farms, Lexington, and leading Keeneland seller for 10 years, advises what to look for at the sales.

"There are four important considerations," he said. "They are breeding, soundness, conformation and action."

"You should carefully check the breeding of the yearling, and be sure you are getting the best. If you don't know bloodlines, then consult somebody who does. Your best bet are yearlings from families who are producing stakes winners."

"I like the produce of proven stallions, out of young mares. You should look for a mixture of foreign and American blood—by foreign stallions, out of American mares—or vice versa."

BUSINESS VIEWS

Grab Sound Stock and Ride Through

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

A few months ago University of B.C. professor-economist Leslie Wong told a group of Victoria stock brokers and investment dealers the best time to buy stocks is when business falls flat or when people of such stature as President Eisenhower suffer indigestion pains. "When like suffers a heart attack and investors panic and sell I buy," said Prof. Wong. His reasoning perplexed amateur economists like you-know-who because there didn't seem to be any point in clutching the anchor of a ship about to descend into Davey Jones' locker.

The professor explained his theory in this way: There are too many buoyant economic factors to worry about one or two weak points or "temporary adverse situations" which have a sudden but not lasting effect on stock averages.

The buoyant economic factors he listed as the gross national product—"rising steadily"—and expanding sales and gross earnings of large and medium-size industries made possible by increased research and technical advances.

Time has proved Professor Wong more right than wrong. The Dow Jones averages have continued to soar. Now Investors Research Company predicts "with the July advance generating momentum there can be little doubt the new leg of the bull market is in its initial stages."

"A 100-point extension of the bull market from the base established in March-April could carry the Dow Industrials to 720 by fall, making common stocks worthwhile at this point," says Investors Research.

In other words, grab a sound common stock and ride Dow Jones through the Wall Street sound barrier.

Cessation of toll by the woodworkers in B.C. and the steelworkers in the U.S. hasn't hurt their standings in the market appreciably.

In the U.S. the reverse was true Wednesday. U.S. Steel rose a point. In Canada where steel companies import about 25 per cent from Uncle Sam the drop in steel stocks was infinitesimal.

Similarly the impasse between the forest industries and the woodworkers has not resulted in timber stock tumbling out of sight. A check of four firms, MacMillan & Bloedel, Crown Zellerbach, Powell River and B.C. Forest Products reveals only one—BCFP—is down (only a point) and the rest as solid as a hefty hemlock. The proposed Powell River-M&B wedding wouldn't have hurt their stock standing, particularly M&B's, but the point seems to be that investors aren't too concerned with temporary setbacks in one segment of the economy. Too many setbacks in too many segments, a la the late recession, would be a horse of a different hue.

Everybody was so busy watching the steel situation Wednesday few paid any attention to the behavior of Zenith on the New York exchange. Like its name which suggests haste, Zenith zoomed from 119 to 126 1/2 which is pretty nice climbing if you happen to be aboard.

Olson Motors which has just taken over the Ford franchise and National Motors, the firm which bid "au revoir" to it, will greet the following item with mixed reactions: Ford of Canada announces its new car sales for June were up 48 per cent over the same month a year ago. For Ford it was the jumpingest June since 1956.

Religious Tests Banned In Hiring

NEW YORK (AP)—A court Wednesday barred the Arabian-American Oil Company from applying religious tests in hiring employees, and said that if the company can't comply it should "go elsewhere to serve your Arab masters."

State Supreme Court Justice Henry Epstein, upsetting a state administrative ruling that allowed the oil firm to quiz prospective employees about their religion, declared:

"Any such holding: would undermine the very foundations of our American concept of liberty and the constitutional safeguards of that liberty."

He said the upholding of U.S. justice outweighed any considerations of the company's relations with governments in the religious-tense Near East.

Science Tries to Make or Break Weather

By A. M. THOMAS

Canada's official weathermen, although they talk a lot about the weather, are not yet able to do anything about it—but at least they're trying to see if anything ever can be done.

This information comes from P. D. McTaggart-Cowan, associate director of meteorological services which operate out of Toronto under the federal department of transport.

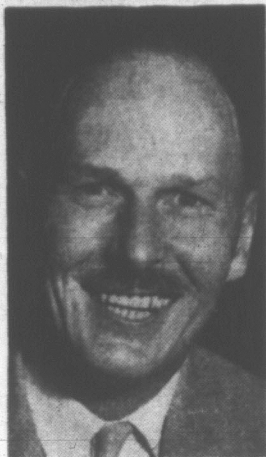

Mr. McTaggart-Cowan, who was in Victoria part of Tuesday and Wednesday in the course of an inspection tour of weather stations across Canada, is a Rhodes Scholar who was schooled in North Vancouver, at UBC and Oxford University.

Although the subject did not come within the scope of his immediate assignment—just to check on local problems with local men—he unhesitatingly says that all science can do right now is to find out all about clouds, very difficult things to investigate, since if you get among them you change their composition.

There is, he says, a wide range of difference of opinion as to whether rain can be "made," but he left the impression that he, as a scientist, is dubious about it so far.

A weather station in Vancouver is busy with the problem, says Mr. McTaggart-Cowan, and since ideal conditions for rain-making would be on the western slopes of a mountainous area close to an ocean, the best chance of solving it is here. Stopping hail gives the scientists more trouble and concern than making rain, he said. It would mean millions to Canada's agriculture if a heavily-moisture-laden thunder cloud could be made to discharge its cargo of wet stuff before it turned into hail.

'What Better Weather for Queen's Visit'

P. D. McTAGGART-COWAN
... doubtful rain can be "made"

So the effort now is to find out how long it takes a cloud to manufacture hailstones—10 minutes as one authority says, much longer as another insists—and then go on from there.

There is a snag in all this, however—a desperate shortage of scientists, for which lack of money is held largely to blame.

High schools keep grabbing off potential meteorologists by offering them more money as teachers.

In Ontario, for example, where Mr. Mr. McTaggart-Cowan works, a high school teacher without being even head of a department, gets up to $9,100 a year. His department can offer a scientist up to $5,000.

The department is working on the situation through the federal payroll research bureau.

The meteorological service employs about 450 scientists and 1,200 technicians. They serve from the weathership Stone-town out in the Pacific, east to Canadian army units with NATO forces in Europe.

Of the situation in the Victoria weather station Mr. McTaggart-Cowan would only point to the sunshine and ask: "What better job local weatherman Bill Mackie could have done for the Queen's visit?"

RCMP Costs Broken Down

PORT ALBERNI—Cost per man in RCMP detachments is $7,018 annually, council here was told in information from Victoria.

Port Alberni will pay 50 per cent of the cost of five RCMP in the local detachment and 75 per cent for each additional man.

Archbishop Gives Confirmation

GANGES—Most Rev. Archbishop Harold Sexton of Victoria officiated at a confirmation service recently in St. Mary's Anglican Church at Fulford Harbour, assisted by Archdeacon G. H. Holmes.

Participating were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ogden Smith of Musgrave Landing, W. A. Brown of Ganges, and Mrs. R. T. Cook of Vesuvius Bay. Following the service, His Grace dedicated the new Sunday school room.

No Duncan Money For Pan-Am Games

DUNCAN — Council has turned down an appeal for money to pay for sending B.C. amateur athletes to the Pan-American games.

It was explained a grant was impossible because it had not been included in this year's finances.

Lawyer, Sportsman Dies at 83

DUNCAN — Lawyer and sportsman John S. Robinson, 83, who had lived here 47 years and died Monday, will be buried in St. Mary's Cemetery, Somenos, Friday, following a 2 p.m. service in St. John's Church.

He was a member of the Cowichan Golf and Country Club, the Maple Bay Yacht Club and was an ardent hunter and fisherman.

Born in Kingston, England, he was educated at Rugby and Cambridge and was called to the bar in Manchester. A veteran of the First World War, Mr. Robinson served with a B.C. unit and later with the Imperial Army.

Survivors include a son, Stephen, in Ottawa.

Funeral Friday For Hockey Coach

PORT ALBERNI—Funeral service will be held here at 10 a.m. Friday for John W. Tylick, 30, coach of Port Alberni Flyers hockey team the past five years.

He died Tuesday in West Coast General Hospital.

A native of Perth, Ont., he came here 13 years ago and was employed as a carrier driver at a lumber mill.

He leaves his widow, Betty, and three sons, Graham, John and Brian.

Fishpackers, Tugboats Supplying Upcoast Ports

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Hees told the House of Commons Wednesday the following arrangements exist for transportation of supplies to northern British Columbia points while the current Northland Navigation strike continues:

1. Barkley Sound Transportation Company is instituting July 18 a temporary service from Port Alberni to Ucluelet, Port Albion, Tofino, Clayoquot, Kakawis, Ahousat, Hot Springs Cove, Hesquiat, Nootka, Gold River, Mooyah Bay, Tahsis, Esperanza, Zeballos and Chamisso Bay.
2. Coast Ferries Limited is continuing to serve regularly the Lower Johnstone Straits ports and islands and inlets on the route to and from Vancouver.
3. Island Tug and Barge Limited is carrying out a barge service to the Upper Johnstone Straits ports including Beaver Cove, Alert Bay, Port McNeill, Port Hardy and Quatsino Sound.
4. Packers of various fishing companies are serving Smith's Inlet, River's Inlet, Skeena River, Namu, Bella Bella, Klemty and Butedale.
5. B.C. Packers Steamship Company is giving a regular call at Bella Coola.
6. Vancouver Tug and Barge Company is calling regularly at Ocean Falls.
7. Straits Towing Limited is serving Prince Rupert and Kitimat.
8. Straits Towing Limited is serving Massett in the Queen Charlotte Islands and from Massett there is road connection to Port Clements, Skidegate and Queen Charlotte City.

Jamboree Day Set Saturday, July 25

QUALICUM BEACH—Jamboree Day will be held here Saturday, July 25.

All the community is pitching in to make the annual event an outstanding success.

Starting at 10 a.m., there will be kiddie-rides and ferris wheel, carnival and "great white way," and a one-mile swim race for the J. C. Reid Challenge Cup.

The pipe band of B Company, Canadian Scottish Regiment, will attend and there will be street dancing in the evening, plus a fireworks display at 10 p.m.

The refreshment booth will be in charge of the various women's organizations, and a salmon barbecue will be operated by the Qualicum District Fish and Game Club.

Deadline for entries in the swim will be Tuesday, July 21, and entries should reach Mrs. Betty Parker, Box 74, Qualicum Beach, before that date. A special prize will be given for the "old-timer of the day," the oldest person present.

Supporting the Jamboree are the Canadian Legion, Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Pythias, Volunteer Fire Department, ladies' auxiliaries of three churches, Legion Auxiliary, Pythian Sisters, PTA and Women's Institute.

Drove Too Fast, Fined

DUNCAN—Wayne Jew, Seattle, who drove through town at speeds between 40 and 50 mph, was fined $30 in police court here Wednesday.

In the 60-mph zone outside town, police clocked him at speeds of up to 80 mph.

RCMP Asks Aid of FBI.

PRINCE GEORGE, (CP) —The RCMP is reported to have asked the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation for assistance in locating a Texan, probably with a record for dope and attempted murder, in connection with a slaying near here last month.

The Texan is reported to have been in the area of McLeod Lake, 90 miles north of this north-central British Columbia city, when Bruce Worline, 30, a University of Alaska student, was killed.

Worline's bullet-riddled body was found near the lake June 29. He had been driving to his wife's parents' home in California from Alaska in a panel truck which was later found in Vancouver.

RCMP in Vancouver said Wednesday it was believed the Texan was travelling in Quebec but police here, who refused to confirm the report that the FBI is being asked for assistance, said they knew nothing of this.

WATERCADE TO AID 'RETARDED'S'

16 Lovelies to Show Here

Sixteen girls—average age 20—from the "chorus line" of the new variety show "Holiday Watercade," which arrives in Victoria Friday for its opening night at Memorial Arena next Thursday.

The five-day stand sponsored by Victoria North Kiwanis Club in aid of its retarded children fund, gets here a week early to rehearse and make a number of public appearances.

Advance ticket sales are reported going well and Kiwanis look for a capacity audience of 4,600 at the opener.

CHILDREN'S NIGHT

As a bonus, any child accompanied by an adult ticket-holder will be admitted free Thursday night only.

Boasting a cast of 30, including divers, precision swimmers, clowns and stage performers, "Watercade" brings with it the world's largest completely portable stage-swimming tank equipment.

For example, the main pool—there is a second pool especially for diving—holds 60,000 gallons of water, illuminated from below the surface with lights capable of any variation from violet to vivid.

Several members of the cast are expected to appear at Eaton's ticket counter after their arrival by Friday morning ferry.

Saturday at 3 p.m., six of the bathing girls will model swim and sports fashions at Hudson's Bay Co.

Later it is hoped the cast may be seen in a downtown motorcade and perhaps visit Gorge Park beach.

Temporary "Watercade" headquarters is set up at 1054 Fort, phone EV 5-0622, where tickets are available.

Child Given Blood

Over Parents' Kicks

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—A seven-year-old girl received a blood transfusion by court order Tuesday afternoon although her parents considered it sinful. The child, Katherine Baker, remained in critical condition Wednesday. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Baker, took her to the hospital but said a transfusion was against their beliefs as Jehovah's Witnesses.

2 Die in Kamloops Air Crash

(Compiled from CP)

KAMLOOPS—Two men were killed here Wednesday night when a light training plane struck telephone line and exploded.

Police said the plane apparently was coming in for a landing when it struck the line, flipped and exploded. The wreckage landed in a field one-half mile from the airport here.

The victims were identified as Henry (Hank) Follwetter of Brocklehurst, B.C., and Al Smith, 43, of Vancouver.

Both bodies were badly burned in a fire which broke out after the explosion. It took several hours to extricate the bodies from the wreckage.

Police said the pilot was Follwetter, a member of the Kamloops Flying Club.

The piper cub was owned by the club.

Victim Struck By Iron Horse

Two men who went into a 77-year-old man's cottage gave him a vicious beating and robbed him of $170 as he lay in bed shortly after midnight.

Samuel Smith, 1017 Balmoral, was in good condition with head and face injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Police who interviewed Smith in hospital quoted him as saying two men came into his room in the dark. One struck him over the head with a heavy, ornamental cast iron horse and demanded his money.

One side of the horse, measuring about 12 inches long, was shattered, apparently by the blow.

Patrick Poulin, a roomer and only other occupant of the Smith bungalow, told police he heard a commotion in Smith's room, then saw one man leave the house by the front door.

This man was described as about 25 years old, of slim build and wearing light clothing.

The assaulted man said it was too dark to identify his assailants and he could not say how they had got into his house.

Hospital Matron Burial Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Louise Groves, former matron of Oak Lodge private hospital, will be held at McCall Bros. funeral chapel Saturday, starting at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Groves, born in Salisbury, England, had been a resident of Victoria for the past 30 years. She died Wednesday.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. R. Vera Webb of Victoria and Mrs. J. A. Naida of Black Creek, Vancouver Island.

MLA Backed Bill 43 Blindly Says Labor

Saanich MLA John Tisdalle voted in favor of controversial B.C. labor legislation Bill 43 even though he didn't understand it, a delegate to Victoria Labor Council charged Wednesday.

The delegate said he approached the MLA shortly after the new Trades Union Act was passed and "asked him how he stood on it."

"Mr. Tisdalle replied, 'Well, I don't really understand it and I don't know much about labor, but Mr. Wicks (Labor Minister Lyle Wicks) told me it wouldn't hurt anybody, so I voted for it.'"

The disclosure came during council discussion of a B.C. Federation of Labor plan to build up a cash defence fund to fight the new act, which

'FLYING SAUCER' BELIEVED SEEN OVER CITY WEDNESDAY

Ray Redden, 2963 Westdowne, believes he spotted a flying saucer at about midnight Wednesday.

Mr. Redden was watching a show at the Tillamook Outdoor Theatre when, he says, a bright light "travelling at about 3,000 miles per hour, I guess" crossed the sky heading in a northwest direction behind the screen.

He saw the object, which appeared to be surrounded by a halo of lights, for "about three or four seconds" travelling horizontally.

There was no visible trail to the light.

'ACCIDENTAL DEATH'

27-Foot Skids By Police Cycle

Skid marks 27 feet long were left by a motorcycle driven by city police constable Earle Doyle before suffering fatal injuries in an accident last Sunday.

A verdict of accidental death was brought in by a coroner's jury this morning after evidence had been presented before Dr. J. H. Moore, coroner.

Evidence of witnesses and police attending the scene of the accident south of the Douglas and Francis St. intersection at 9 p.m. Sunday showed that on-coming traffic had prevented the car's driver Edward G. Whitehouse, 4025 Saanich, from seeing the constable.

Site of the accident was 117 feet south of the intersection between the entrances of gasoline stations on either side of Douglas.

TURNING LEFT

Questioning showed that Mr. Whitehouse was driving south on Douglas and intended to

Testifying under the protection of the Canada Evidence Act Mr. Whitehouse said he saw nothing "except the line of cars ahead."

"There was a violent impact on my right front fender," he said . . . and I had the impression of a man flying through the air."

Testifying before Dr. Moore at McCall Brothers' Funeral Chapel, he said that as he approached the point where he wished to turn, a line of cars was facing him in the curb lane coming north.

Mr. Whitehouse said that lead car appeared to be commencing a turn to the left so he signalled and, after stopping, started his turn.

FLEW EIGHT FEET UP

Mr. Whitehouse's testimony agreed with that of succeeding witnesses who said that the constable struck the right fender of the car and flew over the bonnet some eight to 10 feet in the air.

Turning over in the air he was seen to put his arms over his head and land on the back of his head, roll over and come to rest four feet from the curb.

Driver of the car facing Mr. Whitehouse, Terence Lytle, 615 Ralph, said he saw Mr. Whitehouse signal his turn. "I slowed," he said "I think I stopped."

"I saw him turn on his signal, cross the line, and then I turned. Just as I reached the curb I heard the impact."

Mr. Lytle said he thought there was another car behind him when he turned but said he did not see the constable.

Some uncertainty was expressed by the coroner and members of the jury as to the exact location of the vehicles involved and the position of the witnesses.

The constable died, according to medical evidence, at 5:20 p.m. Monday from skull fractures and brain injuries.

Saseenos Hard Hit

Fire which may have been started from a plumber's torch today gutted the uncompleted Saseenos Elementary School and was still burning at noon.

Work on the $38,430 school started four months ago and painters were to have moved in today.

The alarm was turned in at 10:30 a.m. and the Sooke volunteer fire department under Chief W. J. Stephenson was on the spot within minutes.

"Most of our firemen are loggers, and they are on strike, so we were there as fast as possible," he said.

The three-room one-storey school is located across from the government gravel pit. Flames spread so quickly there was little firemen could do on arrival, the chief said.

The loss was covered by insurance.

Pupils who would have attended the new school this fall will have to be accommodated in the Sooke Elementary School, "which can be done, although it will be crowded," a school board spokesman said.

Rebuilding will start as soon as possible.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Edgar Thomas Magee, 4050 Grange, $25 for failing to heed a siren.

Leslie George Collier, 110 Wildwood, $25 for speeding over 30.

Hans Van Leeuwen, 1867 Oak Bay, $10 for failing to notify Motor Vehicles Branch of a change of address.

ASK The TIMES

Q—When was Jules Verne's "Twenty-Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" published? T.D.

A—In 1870.

Q—Could you please tell me where you write to have congratulations sent by the Queen on a 50th wedding anniversary? D.B.

A—It is unlikely the Queen would send congratulations for a 50th anniversary. However, the normal contact is through the secretary at Government House here.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along with The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

'LOVE IS A DIFFICULT THING' Course of True Romance Diverted by Royal Tour

By DAVID COWLISHAW

One of the Queen's footmen flew into Patricia Bay Airport today, smoothed his striped blue-and-yellow Royal Household tie and told reporters, "I am in love with the girl and I intend to marry her as soon as I get back to England."

And thereby hangs a tale, the true fairy-tale story of the love of a beautiful rich girl for a young man whose only possessions are loyalty to Her Majesty and a rollicking sense of humor.

The story begins 18 months ago when Bill Robson, a 25-year-old footman at Buckingham Palace, fell in love with Pat Evans, 22, the daughter of a wealthy building contractor.

They met often, danced into each other's hearts and, seven months ago, became engaged.

But then came news of the present Royal tour and Bill Robson was soon winging his way to Canada.

"Till marry you when I get back," he told Pat and wrote her long letters every week to remind her.

Alas, while he was gone the girl's family apparently took a second look at the match.

Wednesday, after a family

conference, Pat announced, "I have decided to call it off."

And four miles away from the Evans' mansion, the mother of the jilted footman-suitors told reporters, "Pat's parents made it quite clear they do not want her to marry my lad."

"I told my boy to find someone more suited to his position. But it is clear they are in love."

And Bill Robson confirmed that they were today at Victoria's airport when he arrived to superintend the unloading of the Royal tour luggage.

"I love Pat and I intend to marry her when I get back to England," he said.

"I haven't heard that her family will stand in the way. I have written her two letters in the last few days and she has written to me. She did not say the whole thing was off."

"We are in love and we will be married."

Tall, broad-shouldered and peeling from too much sun, the man with the sandy hair glanced down at his grey suit and watched as men unloaded the Queen's suitcases.

"It is not true that the marriage is off," he said finally. "Somebody must have a good imagination, or something. I am going to marry her."

It was reported the Queen herself offered to have the footman flown home in time for his wedding originally set for Aug. 22, but Bill Robson would not comment on this.

"I cannot say," he said. And with that, Footman Robson climbed into an official black car and sped away to Victoria to await the Queen.

ROCK WIELDERS SMASH WINDOW

Cash totalling $43.40 was stolen from Bill's Texaco Service, 760 Esquimalt, in a burglary reported to city police at 2:15 a.m.

Entry to the station was made by smashing a window with a rock.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The 24-foot ketch Idler, object of a wide search when she failed to get across the Strait of Juan de Fuca, is in Victoria today for engine repairs.

The vessel was bound for England but got only as far as Sooke after auxiliary engine trouble developed en route to Neah Bay on the U.S. side. She left here Monday.

Fears for the craft were expressed when she failed to reach Neah Bay, and the U.S. Coast Guard plane spotted her at Sooke.

The craft is manned by Mr. and Mrs. Ian Critchley of Vancouver and a friend, Jim Stewart.

Esquimalt taxes unpaid by 5 p.m. today will be assessed a 5 per cent penalty.

Victoria ratepayers have until the end of September, and Saanich citizens until Oct. 9, to pay their taxes.

An Oak Bay plan to ask the B.C. government to seek a CPR or Black Ball ferry service from Sidney to the mainland after September when CPR sailings from Victoria end, won Mayor Scurrah's approval Wednesday.

"I certainly will support that idea," he said.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, however, thought the matter was "a little outside the province" of a municipal council.

Two British Columbia weekly newspapers won awards for editorial excellence at the 40th annual convention in Regina of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association.

The Campbell River Courier won the M. A. James Shield for the best front page, and the Powell River News won two awards for the best Christmas edition and the best sports page.

Close to 600 Royal Canadian Sea Cadets and their officers from western Canada are taking two weeks summer training at Comox through to Aug. 30.

They are in groups from Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Medicine Hat and Vancouver.

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

My memories of the Queen are a series of mental snapshots reaching far back over the years . . .

1934: A little bare-kneed girl sitting cross-legged in front of a man-size dolls' house at the Ideal Homes Exhibition in London. Alongside, her laughing mother (then the Duchess of York) and her infant sister Margaret. (No thought then that she would one day be Queen.)

1945: A stocky well-built girl of 17 in khaki uniform, peering under the hood of a truck at Aldershot, receiving instruction in army mechanics.

1946: A young woman of 20 in short green skirt chatting with Canadian servicemen and women at a reception at Overseas House, London.

1947: A fairy-tale princess, her grave young face glimpsed through the silver frost of her veil, entering shadowy Westminster Abbey to become the bride of Prince Philip of Greece.

1951: A smart young woman in trim navy-blue costume boarding an airplane at London Airport on her first trip to Canada.

1953: A radiant young Queen driving through the cheering crowds to her Coronation in the centuries-old Abbey, a diamond tiara gleaming from her rich brown hair.

1954: A stately young Queen opening a new wing of Cloyd's famous exchange in the heart of the City of London.

1955: The same young Queen in a bright summery dress and hat driving through the drab East End of London, bowing and smiling to her poorer subjects.

And now . . . an accomplished young Queen, who has proved her worth through years of trial, patience and self-control, stepping triumphantly onto Vancouver Island at Nanaimo, en route to Victoria.

SHOPPING GUIDE

For Purse: Squeeze-Bottle Of Soothing Eye Lotion

By PENNY SAVER

Cool and soothing eye drops may prove to be a special friend for you this summer, especially during the next important few days. Because, if you are hoping to catch a glimpse of the Queen during the visit, you will have to face waiting in, and squinting into bright sunlight. Even if it's overcast (heaven forbid!) the glare from strong July sun, through clouds can cause a considerable amount of eye strain.

But it isn't just Queen-watchers whose eyes will take a beating this summer. Travellers have a double menace of glare and dust to make eyes tired and sore. Vacationers by lakeside or seaside don't escape, either—sunlight can be dazzling, even through dark glasses, when it glances off waves and ripples.

Why not give those precious eyes of yours a break this summer. Give them a soothing bath of special eye lotion. I've found clear and cool eye drops, by a well-known company, available in a marvellous new kind of bottle. It's the squeeze type—one drop comes out per squeeze—so you don't need to worry about floods of the precious liquid escaping, and spilling to spot summer clothes. Shape and size make it perfect for tucking into a corner of the purse. Keep it right alongside lipstick, compact—for a quick refresher when you have a minute to spare.

Price of this eye-saver is 65 cents.

News for travellers is a new little electric iron. Small so as not to take up too much space, it still has ample ironing surface area. Light (one and a half pounds) but heavy enough to do a good job.

This little beauty has dial for temperature control, correct heat for each fabric. A marvellous "bon voyage" gift, price is $11.95.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If You 'Sink' With Salads, Consider the Dressings

When August rolls around many women are going to wonder why their summer salads and salad luncheons failed to accomplish their mission.

Most women feel that summer is a good time to reduce since less energy is required and the appetite is not so whetted by cold weather. They leave off many of the richer foods.

With an eye on their figure as well as on the weather they eat salads in great quantity. Therefore by now many are puzzled as to why the bulges have not lessened or the waistline of their favorite sheath not loosened. It wasn't the salads but the dressing you put on them!

One maitre d'hotel of a leading hotel estimates that an average salad serving is treated with about four table-spoons of dressing. An oil-based dressing has from 60 to 100 calories per tablespoonful. Count it up for yourself.

Salads are wonderful for health because of their vitamin and mineral content. They are splendid on reducing menus for this reason as well as because of the bulk they supply and their low-calorie content, but they can be calorie traps because of the dressing.

I have often given you menus for low-calorie dressings and I have mentioned before that there are good ones available in the markets. I was amazed recently to learn that there is one very pleasant one which has only one calorie to a tablespoon!

A watchful attitude toward the "trimmings" and the preparation of food is the trick when you have a lot of weight to lose. If you have only a few pounds, you may want my Nine-Day Reducing Booklet, which gives you a loss of from 5 to 10 pounds in 9 days. Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Nine-Day Diet Booklet, to Josephine Lowman, in care of this newspaper.

RECEIVING LINE CHATTER

When going through a receiving line at a wedding reception, what does one say to the parents, the bride, the groom and the attendants? I will be facing this problem soon, and, except for the groom and his parents, all will be strangers to me. Do I shake hands?

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS

Offer your hand and announce your name to those whom you don't know. Tell the bride how lovely she looks and wish her happiness. Congratulate the bridegroom. Remind him of his lovely bride; it will make him prouder than ever.

Sugary dishes should be soaked in hot soapy water. Use cold soapy water for dishes in which egg, fish or dough have been cooked or prepared. Warm water with soap is best for greasy dishes, pots and pans.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas of 405 John Street have announced the engagement of their youngest daughter, Vivian Marie to Donald Louis Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gibson of 1979 Argyle Avenue. DEAR ABBY...

Hit the Road, Honey!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried woman who is in love with a married man. He says he'd marry me tomorrow if he were free, but his wife won't give him a divorce. He lives at home for the sake of appearances. I know he is miserable without me. He swears that one day we will be married.

We've been seeing each other for three years. I am not satisfied with a few stolen hours but I love him too much to give him up. How can I speed up his divorce?

TIRED OF WAITING.

DEAR TIED: When a married man says, "My wife won't give me a divorce," what he usually means is: "I want a place to light after this rocket ride is over." Most two-timing Romeos don't even ask their wives for a divorce because they really don't want one. You are heading down a dead-end street. Get wise and detour while you're still young enough to travel.

DEAR ABBY: In our church we do not have a "clerical garb" for our ministers. Our pastor always looks nice in the pulpit but he is seen all over town and visiting in the hospitals in a loud sport shirt and rumpled trousers. They are not too clean, either. He is a fine man but it is embarrassing to introduce him to new friends as our pastor when he looks like he's slept in his clothes. We all love him and don't want to hurt him.

but we want to be proud of him all the time. Please help us.

ONE OF THE FLOCK.

DEAR ONE: A personal friend of your pastor should tell him in a kind and gentle way that a man in his respected position should be more careful of his appearance in public.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old and crazy over a boy. He does me dirty but I don't care how dirty he does me. I will always love him. My mother and all my girl friends tell me I am crazy for liking him after he does me like he does. One day he says he likes me and the next day he asks another girl to go steady. He does that because he knows I will take him back no matter what. Dear Abby, please give me some good advice, but please don't tell me to forget him because I can't.

LOVING HIM.

DEAR LOVING: There is no help for girls who love fellows "no matter what." You remind me of the person who enjoys hitting himself over the head because it feels so good when he stops.

DEAR ABBY: I am 55 and in good health. I am a widower and have had experience as a janitor, night watchman and porter. I have been to the employment agency and have my application in for many jobs but so far nothing has turned up. As I understand it, I am too old for work, too young for old-age pension, too old for the army and too young to die. What can I do?

E.B.

DEAR E.B.: You are too young to give up. Keep looking!

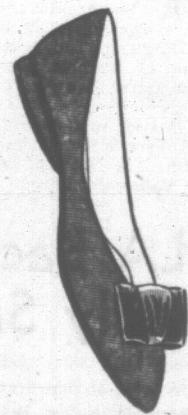

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE "FIRST LIEUTENANT": You weren't first—eventually.

Roshanka of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lampard and their three sons from Red Deer, Alta. Mr. George Downing and party of San Dimas, Calif., are camping at McKenzie Lake on the Plateau for a week.

Vancouver Wedding

A group of Victorians returned recently from a short trip to Vancouver to attend the wedding of the former Miss Rosemary Kathleen Dougherty and Mr. Richard Hartley Faulkner. They were the bride's aunt Mrs. A. Martinich, who attended with another aunt, Mrs. Joe Martinich, Pender Island; the bride's cousins, Miss Evelyn Martinich, Miss Patricia Martinich and Mrs. Robert Matthewman, with tiny Karen Matthewman. Also in the party was Miss Patricia Martinich's fiancé, Mr. Pat Carson.

From Hawaii

Mrs. L. M. Barrett is a visitor in Victoria from Honolulu, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McGill, at their home on Mayfair Drive. Mrs. Barrett, who is Dean of Women at Jackson College, in Honolulu, will go on next week to join her husband, Dr. Barrett, and their three children, at Pokonabe Lodge, Mammoth Lakes, California.

Coffee Hour

Mrs. Anthony E. Leonard is entertaining at a coffee party in her Cavendish Avenue home next Wednesday. Honor guest will be Mrs. William G. Welbourn who will leave Victoria with her husband, Lieut. Welbourn, and family in August for Halifax where they will make their home.

Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Stone and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hadley of Washington, D.C., have been guests at the Empress Hotel for the past two days. Mr. Stone is editor-in-chief of the Scripps Howard newspapers. Mr. Hadley is Washington correspondent of the Montreal Star.

This family group pictured in the garden, includes Mr. and Mrs. Peter Macfarlane of Toronto with son Richard, six years and Susan, two-and-a-half. The four are guests of Mrs. Macfarlane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Doughty-Davies at their home on Macdonald Drive for several weeks. Mrs. Macfarlane is the former Miss Jill Doughty-Davies, Victoria. Her husband is the producer of the hour-long television show "Cross Canada Hit Parade" for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. After their stay in the city, the Macfarlanes will travel to Hollywood where they will holiday and visit several television studios.

Gowns Worn at First Presentation

On arrival at Government House this afternoon Her Majesty the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were received by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross.

For the occasion Mrs. Ross wore an afternoon dress of fine white French voile with all-over design of tiny flowers in delicate pastel tones.

In the state drawing room His Honor presented His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Scurrah; the Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner and Mrs. Rayner; Air Commodore A. D. Ross and Mrs. Ross; Brig. J. W. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop, and assistant commissioner J. E. Lemieux, RCMP, and Mrs. Lemieux.

A sheath gown in cool shades of green touched with white, was chosen by Mrs. Perry B. Scurrah for the occasion. Identical shades and print were used for the delicate voile jacket. Her hat was of soft white straw with white French roses and deep green leaves.

A delicate floral print silk shantung dress in rose and blue was choice of Mrs. H. S. Rayner. The V-neckline was framed with soft draping, and sparkled with a self bow. She wore a hat of small white petals.

Mrs. A. D. Ross wore a Ceil Chapman print in tones of pale blue with small matching chiffon cloche hat. Mrs. Bishop was striking in a white coat and dress ensemble. On each side of the three-quarter-length coat was a band of embroidery in varied tones. Her hat was also white.

Mrs. Lemieux chose a simply cut linen lace sheath-style gown in a wheat-beige tone, with short sleeves. She was wearing a small petal hat which blended in tones of beige deepening to deeper browns.

Following the presentations, Her Majesty the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, accompanied by the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross left for the Parliament Buildings where the Premier of British Columbia presented Members of the Executive Council, The Speaker, the Leader of the Opposition, Members of the Legislative Assembly and their wives.

Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wife of the Premier, wore a pinkish blue silk jacket dress with small white petal hat. Her jewelry was pearls.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Glover of Victoria became the bride of Allan Hayton, son of Mrs. V. Parks, New Westminster, and J. Hayton, Langford, in a wedding service in Centennial United Church recently. Rev. D. Carr officiated.

Bride, the former Miss Karen Glover, chose a gown of lace and net for her wedding. Styled on princess lines the full-skirted dress extended to floor length. A headress of sequins and pearls held her circular chapel length veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis. She was escorted up the aisle by her father.

Attending the bride were Miss Carol Hayton and Miss Heather Glover. Both wore gowns of nylon chiffon in tones of yellow and blue respectively and carried sprays of flame and yellow gladioli.

Dale Hayton was best man and ushers were Bill Kingcott and Gordon Hansen. A reception followed at the Knights of Pythias Hall. Thomas Atkinson proposed the bridal toast.

The new Mrs. Hayton donned a two-piece dress in blue topped with a fur jacket for a wedding trip to Portland. A couple are now living at 2726 Blackwood Street.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Miss Joy Harmon, 19, proprietor of the most astounding figure east of Hollywood, has been trying to play down her sexy look lately — so I took her to dinner and let her tell me about it.

"You see, recently they announced I was going to change my name to 'Joy Forty-two' because my measurement is 42." Joy said when we sat down at the Astor and she ordered a fruit salad.

"Well, that was bad taste, and besides it wasn't true. I never intended to change my name. How would it sound on the phone — 'Is Miss Forty-two there?'"

Joy, who plays Sam Levene's sexy secretary in "Make a Million," said "I'm not 42 any longer — I'm only 39½ — I lost weight."

"I was always crazy about Marilyn Monroe. I used to wiggle like she did. I was very shy in school; I was embarrassed when the boys whistled at me. I used to eat my lunch in the ladies' room. I was so shy, but I would still wear the tightest sweater and skirts I could get to school. Wasn't that silly?"

Well, it wasn't so silly the night of Mike Todd's famous Madison Square Garden party.

"Mommy took a nightgown she'd hardly ever worn since she was married and made an evening gown out of it. It was the lowest-cut evening gown I ever saw. Oh, it was real fitting. They had me sitting on top of a cake at the party."

An agent, Bob Martin, saw her in her coming-out gown and helped her land this Broadway role.

"And now I have a fan club!" Joy exclaimed. "It has about 30 members. They send in $1 and get a wallet picture and a big picture, signed. They get a journal, too, of what I'm doing. Gladys Hart, the president, is also the president of Susan Strasberg's fan club."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL. — Comic Allan Drake, who said he'd never work with rock 'n' roller Fabian, didn't show up for their Atlantic City Steel Pier show. Teeth Transplanted By Toronto Dentist

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto physician and dentist has claimed the first successful transfer of teeth from one person to another, it was learned here Wednesday.

Dr. Samuel W. Leslie, in a scientific paper to the international congress on plastic surgery in London reported three successful transplants to Harvey Eisen, 19, of Toronto and to his own son Peter Leslie, 24.

Eisen, the first patient, has a lower eye tooth transplanted from his sister Jill, 11, who had to lose the tooth for orthodontic treatment. The transplant took place 18 months ago and X-rays show a new root.

Eisen said in an interview: "It's the best tooth I have. It felt a little funny at first... now it is completely firm and I can bite or chew as hard as I like with it."

The student lost a tooth and had several others broken when he was hit in the mouth by a puck in a hockey game in January, 1958.

Peter Leslie has two upper teeth transplants, one from a nine-year-old girl and one from an 11-year-old girl. Both had to lose the teeth in treatment.

Young Leslie said today the two teeth are "like my very own."

PILOT PROJECT ONLY

On his paper, Dr. Leslie said the work is a pilot project and further clinical, radiographic and blood tests on the two patients are needed.

A former president of the College of General Practice of Canada, he said there is similarity between his tooth transplant technique and that employed in skin grafting.

His technique uses the sac which surrounds the tooth during its growth.

Dr. Leslie said he sews the sac around the transplanted tooth and believes it is this attachment which helps the transplant "take."

Typhoon Hits Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Typhoon Billie swept across Northern Formosa Wednesday, causing wide spread damage and leaving thousands homeless. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The 3,692-ton Japanese ship Bantai Maru radioed it had been driven aground on a reef off Eastern Formosa and called for immediate assistance.

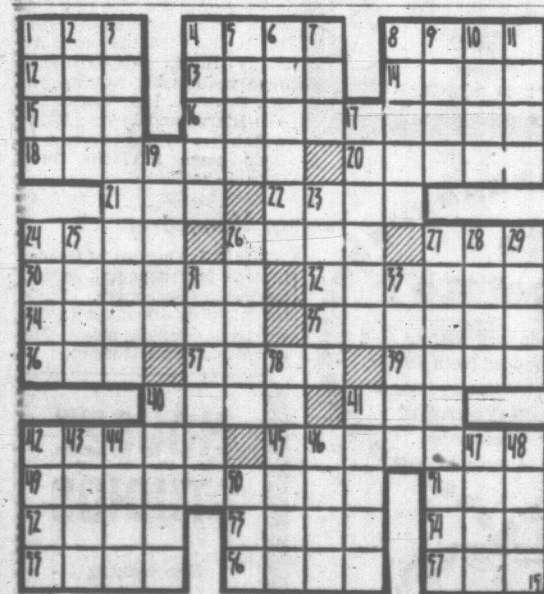

'Small Fry' Fish Derby Next Week

Annual fishing derby for children sponsored by T. Eaton Co. will be held at the breakwater, Ogden Point, from 1 to 4:30 p.m. July 24, Gordon Hartley, director of city playgrounds, announced today.

Youngsters wishing to enter should call at Eaton's sporting goods department anytime from now until July 24 to pick up their free fishing derby crest.

They may use any tackle they like, but must fish off the breakwater itself. Trained playground supervisors will be on hand.

Crests must be worn and prizes will be presented to every child who catches a fish.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES
Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions by select to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a valuable set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Bobby Moxley, age 13, of Princeville, Ill., for his question:

What causes clouds to become black?
All clouds are made of water droplets or fragments of ice. When these particles are small and far apart, the sunshine reaches among them, making the cloud look snowy white. When the particles are large, the sun cannot reach through them. Sunshine is blocked off and the cloud becomes a mass of grey shadows.

The life of a cloud begins some time before we see it in the sky. The sun beams down, evaporating moisture from the seas, lakes and rivers, from the plants, the damp ground and the laundry on the line. This evaporated moisture becomes water vapor, an invisible gas mixed with the other gases of the air. Its particles are too small for even a powerful microscope to see. There is always some vapor in the air, even over the driest desert.

This vapor moisture is unborn clouds. When moist air cools, its vapor becomes cloud mist. A number of things can force air to become cooler but

Finally Form Raindrops

Sooner or later, something happens to make the tiny droplets gather into sizeable raindrops. This can happen when solid fragments fall through a very cool cloud. A fragment of dust, soot, ice or salt from the sea forms a nucleus onto which cling countless droplets of mist to form one drop of rain. The raindrops are large enough to cut off the sunshine and form grey shadows. The cloud becomes some shade of grey. When hail pellets form, the cloud may look inky black.

For a while, the raindrops may remain small enough to float in the air and the grey cloud floats over hill and dale. Even large raindrops may be held aloft by rising currents of air from below. But, sooner or later, the weight of the dark cloud becomes too heavy to ride the breezes and down comes the rain.

Andy sends Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Clifford Petersen, age 12, of Wauwotosa, Wis., for his question: Is the sun farther away in the winter?

The earth's orbit is almost, but not quite, a perfect circle. Of course, this means that the earth's distance from the sun varies. Its mean or average distance is about 93 million miles. But on Jan. 1 it is about three million miles closer than it is on July 1. Since our heat and warmth come from the sun, we would expect to be nearer the sun in July. Actually, other factors create the seasons.

Color TV 'Around The Corner'

OTTAWA (UPI)—Latest Canadian Broadcasting Corporation studios are designed to add color television facilities "with a minimum of alteration," the CBC said Wednesday.

Its annual report, tabled in Parliament, said, however, that color TV remained "just around the corner" as it has for several years "despite strong promise."

"On the other hand, it is possible that Canadian broadcasters could be faced with a strong public demand for color at any time," the report added.

It said that, as well as studio facilities, the CBC's national microwave network was also easily adapted to color transmission.

A COMPLETED REPLICA of Ann Hathaway's cottage adjoining the Olde England Inn on Lampson Street will be officially opened by Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt Sunday at 3 p.m. It has been built in co-operation with the Shakespeare Trust in England by Sam Lane, proprietor of the Olde England Inn.

BIG CHANGE FROM TV 'FLICKIES'

Smile Show Scores Again

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

To those who sit glued to their TV sets night after night watching an over-rehearsed "flickie," Jerry Gosley's Smile Show may seem a little rough.

You have to get away from this TV slickness to really enjoy a show like Gosley's that depends so much on the spirit and co-operation of the audience.

It was for that reason that the preview of Gosley's sixth annual Smile Show at the Langham Court Theatre Wednesday night won such a full share of laughter and applause from a near-capacity audience.

The talent was there, but it hadn't had all the spontaneity beaten out of it by super-duper producers, directors and executive assistant directors.

The fun flowed freely and the lively audience expected nothing more than the best that the artists could give.

Jerry Gosley and vivacious Irene Henderson were, as usual, the backbone of the show, but they had plenty of support from Len Evans, the Cockney humorist, Carl and Lottie Heulon, the prize-winning magicians; Haria and Joan Perry, the versatile dancers; and the ever-popular Reg. Stone at the Hammond organ.

Carl and Lottie had lots of fun with Wednesday's edition of The Victoria Times. They poured ink into the folded pages, then opened them up to display not a spot of ink.

They produced live pigeons out of nothing and made them disappear as quickly.

Jerry Gosley, in the uniform of a Beefeater at the Tower of London, made full use of the famous Stanley Holloway ballad "With 'er head tucked underneath 'er arm, she walks the Bloody Tower," with blood-curdling organ effects by Reg Stone.

JERRY AT EMPRESS

Jerry's satire on the Empress Hotel lounge, performed by himself, Irene Henderson and Len Evans, was delightfully suggestive of a place where you can die quietly without being noticed.

Irene's sparkling personality and lyrical voice came through in "With a Song and a Smile," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "The Lassie from Lancashire."

Members of the audience were enticed onto the stage in "Underneath the Spreading Chestnut Tree" and made fools of themselves as audiences usually do.

Aldernoni had the audience singing to his piano accompaniment in medleys of English, Scottish and Irish songs, and Reg. Stone contributed a tuneful array of "Music Hall Memories."

DEDICATED GROUP

Sam Lane, chairman of Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group, introduced the sixth "Smile Show" as an asset to the city's tourist entertainment.

"Entertainers are dedicated people," he said, "and they give of their best regardless of commercial reward."

Stanley Tozier, president of Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce, came to Victoria especially to attend the show, which will be repeated tonight at 8.15 p.m.

The Arctic Archipelago, a vast agglomeration of treeless islands, covers more than 500,000 square miles.

He's My Husband, Says B.C. Woman

VANCOUVER—Mrs. Joyce Beattie of suburban north Vancouver says a self-styled gentleman burglar arrested in Los Angeles is her husband who disappeared Jan. 1.

She said she identified a picture of Iain Hemensy, who Los Angeles police said collected loot of between $50,000 and $100,000 in 50 burglaries last month.

But the newspaper said a man answering to the name of Hemensy, who says he is from Southern Rhodesia, said in a telephone interview from a Los Angeles police station that Mrs. Beattie was wrong.

Los Angeles detectives are quoted as saying Hemensy has told several stories since he was arrested Sunday.

Admirals Quitting In Argentine Row

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Twelve admirals in the Argentine Navy have requested retirement since President Arturo Frondizi turned down their demand that Navy Secretary Adolfo Estvez be dismissed. Retirement of the 12, plus a number of captains, would leave the navy practically without ranking commanding officers.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

DETROIT — The judge jumped from his chair and several policemen reached for their guns when a sharp report shattered the stillness of recorder's court Wednesday.

Embarrassed grins replaced looks of alarm when a geyser of foam shooting from an open beer bottle made clear what had happened.

Pressure had popped the cork on evidence used in convicting a man accused by buying beer for a minor. Judge John P. Scallen gave John Chermers, 47, 30 days and ordered the evidence removed.

PARSONS, Kan. — Hazel May is quite skilful with scissors. She works in a garment factory, and when a bee invaded the place she snapped her shears at the rascal, snapping it in two.

But things did not come out so well in the end. The half of the bee capable of stinging fell in the scissors-snapper's chair. She sat down on it, and was stung.

LONDON — An old fan sent comedian Bud Flanagan congratulations when he was made an Officer of the British Empire in the Queen's Birthday honors list last month.

The telegram, signed just "Philip," was from the Queen's husband and now has been framed and placed on the wall of Flanagan's apartment.

Flanagan told reporters Wednesday Prince Philip was an "old friend" of the "crazy gang," team of zany comedians to which Flanagan belongs.

"Been coming to see us since he was a boy," the comedian added.

He said the prince once told him he was "bored stiff" by horse racing — "not that I don't like it as a sport. But I would rather be out there riding myself — and they won't let me."

ANTIGONISH, N.S. — Rev. Dempsey Chisholm said "flabbiness and lack of muscular tone is a trademark of Canadian life" and then promptly went out and threw the 16-pound hammer farther than any of the competitors in Wednesday's Highland Games.

The onetime Maritime track and field star, now in his 50's, heaved the hammer 117 feet, several feet better than the winner of the event.

LOS ANGELES — While viewing a Joan Miro exhibit at the county museum, Allan Packler took a long look at the contemporary Spanish artist's painting, Composition — Oil, Rope and Plaster on Canvas. Then Packler told officials:

That painting is upside down.

Upside down? And it was.

So a museum crew put the painting right-side-up Wednesday.

LONDON — A judge today sentenced ex-truck driver Edward Langley to prison for defying a court order and running off to Scotland with 20-year-old British heiress Katherine Dowsett to get married.

Under English law, Langley can be imprisoned until he apologizes to the judge and IN THE MATTER OF THE "REAL ESTATE AGENTS' LICENSING ACT" (Continued)

THE RULING was made in the case of Lars Daly, a perennial and unsuccessful candidate for mayor of Chicago, who demanded equal time for broadcasts on Chicago stations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate commerce committee approved a bill Wednesday to exempt newscasts and other news programs from a requirement that political candidates be given equal time on radio and television broadcasts.

The legislation is the outgrowth of a ruling earlier this year by the federal communications commission that equal time must be given to political candidates who demagogued it.

The ruling was made in the case of Lars Daly, a perennial and unsuccessful candidate for mayor of Chicago, who demanded equal time for broadcasts on Chicago stations.

100 FIRST AID MEN TO 'POLICE' CROWDS

More than 100 members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade will be in attendance at the various functions in which the Queen and Prince Philip will take part during their visit here.

Heaviest concentration of ambulance personnel will be at Friday's Beacon Hill reception and the children's rally at Clover Point. About 25 members will be at each location, with a first aid station establishment at the Point.

Mrs. Emily Harwood, local superintendent, said never in the brigade's history have so many members participated in a major event here.

St. John Ambulance personnel will also line streets along the "slow" routes to be taken by the royal couple.

... INDIANS

Mayor Pete Maffeo escorted the Queen.

The crowd burst into God Save the Queen as she stood in the centre of the platform with her husband near her side. Then the civic dignitaries and Indian chiefs were presented.

The Queen, and especially Prince Philip, stopped most of the dignitaries and chiefs for a few words. Prince Philip frequently asked the men how they made their "living" and seemed interested by the wide range of occupations the various reeves and village chairmen had.

The biggest thrill went to Mrs. Paula Johnson, 97-year-old pioneer of Nanaimo, who was helped across the platform by Prince Philip after receiving a special smile from the Queen.

Later she could only say an excited "oh, my" as reporters crowded around her to ask details of the brief conversation with the Royal couple.

PRESENTATION

The crowd clapped as Rev. Peter Kelly, chairman of the legislative committee of the Native Brotherhood of B.C., was presented to the Royal couple.

The Queen listened while Prince Philip asked Rev. Kelly where he lived and to what denomination he ministered and then she joined the conversation, but a gentle breeze blew her words away from listening reporters below the dais.

Mayor Maffeo escorted the royal couple down the dais steps to the sawdust-covered infield of the park.

DANCE OF MASKS

A dozen braves, their faces hidden behind stark wooden masks and their bodies covered with feather-dressed skins, burst out of the "long house" in a gyrating Dance of Masks that swirled up to and around the Queen.

Rattles of sea shells clicked shrilly, an Indian chorus chanted and tomtoms reverberated in alternating fast and slow tempos as the pounding feet shook the ground.

Prince Philip and RCMP escorts stepped into the background as the dancers wound their way around the Queen, bells tied at their ankles jingling fiercely.

The royal couple looked closely at a special rockery with its own waterfall set up near the "long house" along with more than 100 trees to provide a realistic setting.

AT BEACON HILL

Three Service Bands Join For Concerts

Royal Canadian Engineers' band from Chilliwack will join the band of HMCS Naden for a special concert in Beacon Hill Park at 9 tonight.

On Friday the same bands, with the addition of the RCAF Training Command band from Edmonton, will present a two-hour massed band concert at the park starting at 7:45 p.m.

Tonight's band concert repertoire will include O Canada, Royal Visit, Bugler's Holiday, Parisian Street Dance, Action Front, Rienz, Voices of Spring, pieces from My Fair Lady, the Queen.

The Chilliwack army band will be under the direction of Capt. A. Brown, while Lt. Cmdr. Sutherland will conduct the band of HMCS Naden.

Program for Friday's concert will be as follows: O Canada, grand march Royal Visit, Barber of Seville, the waltz Der Rosenkavalier, Coronet Carillon, Typewriter Song, Suite, Handel Water Music, samba Red Sombra, Conquest, march Sempio Fidelia, selections from My Fair Lady, novelty Snake Fence Country by Canadian composer Howard Cable, Sandpaper Ballet, Newfoundland Rhapsody, hymn, Crimond, Overture 1812, Tchaikowsky, the Queen.

Funeral Service on Friday For Wife of City Banker

Funeral services will be held Friday for Mrs. Sadie Lynn Thow, 1021 Gillespie Place, who died Wednesday at home.

Wife of a Victoria bank manager James C. Thow, she was born in Glasgow and was a resident of Victoria for more than 25 years.

In addition to her husband she is survived by two sons, Lynn C. Thow, of Vernon, and Ian F. C. Thow, of Victoria; sisters, Moss Mabel Lynn and Mrs. James C. Pollock.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m., from Hayward's Funeral Home, conducted by the Very Reverend J. Louis W. McLennan and followed by cremation.

BOYS CHEER 'He Didn't Get Up' Cameraman Claims

TORONTO (CP)—Did an officer of the Royal 22nd Regiment remain seated during the playing of God Save the Queen at a royal tour ceremony in Quebec City?

A photograph showing an officer seated amid a group of standing officers was published by the Toronto Star June 24. The caption said the photo was taken during the playing of the national anthem as the Queen and Prince Philip arrived at the Plains of Abraham, outside Quebec City, June 23.

Wednesday, in a letter published by The Star, Maj. Gen. George P. Vanier of Montreal, colonel of the Royal 22nd, says the caption was in error.

Gen. Vanier, diplomat and soldier who has been reported likely to succeed Vincent Massey as Governor-General, attended the Quebec ceremony.

He said he interviewed the officer concerned after receiving a print of The Star photo and was assured that the officer did not sit for the national anthem.

"I accept this officer's word unreservedly," the letter says, "more especially as it is obvious that God Save the Queen is not being played when he is shown sitting. You will have noticed that the other officers in the photograph are not saluting as they would if God Save the Queen were being played."

The only explanation, Gen. Vanier writes, is that "the officer in question may have risen later than or sat down before those around him."

HUMANE SLAUGHTER

Religious Rite Ignored in Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—A government bill to regulate humane slaughter of animals in Canada was passed by the Commons Wednesday night, after two unsuccessful opposition attempts to have the bill specify that Jewish religious slaughter should be considered humane.

Agriculture Minister Harkness, replying to opposition criticisms on the point, assured the Commons that the government has no intention of limiting religious rights.

Cabinet regulation implementing the act would be in line with recommendations of the Commons agriculture committee which said the Jewish ritual—schechita—should be considered as being humane.

However, Liberal members proposed specific amendments on this point, both of which were defeated by the Progressive Conservative majority.

PROTECT RIGHTS

One amendment by Alexis Caron (L., Hull) would have specifically allowed both shooting and schechita. Another by Leon Crestohl (L., Montreal Cartier), the only Jewish member in the Commons, specified that the act should not "invade or interfere with any religious rights and practices presently enjoyed by anyone in Canada."

Mr. Harkness said this was in too general terms, and he doubted whether it would be "good legislation."

Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East) said that since Mr. Crestohl had described the Jewish ritual slaughter method as humane, he should have no need to worry. It would be acceptable under the bill.

Mr. Winch said he can't understand any religion or belief that would use a ritual slaughter method that was not humane.

Mr. Harkness said the bill "will ensure that humane slaughter practices are followed in plants that are within the jurisdiction of Parliament and come under federal meat inspection." This would cover 80 per cent of the total slaughter of meat animals in Canada.

But instead of adding provisions to the Meat Inspection Act, a separate one would be established. It would be administered by meat inspectors.

NEWS BRIEFS

An apology in city police court eased a city man's penalty for obstructing a peace officer when the accused was fined $50 Wednesday.

Raymond Moore, 540 Niagara, told Magistrate William Ostler he was ashamed of himself for his behavior in an encounter with parking meter commissioner Angus Gillespie, who issued two tickets to Moore's car.

"Your expression of apology and regret... is the very best thing you could say," Magistrate Ostler said.

Court was told Moore pushed the commissioner, grabbed his pencil and threw it to the street, then asked Gillespie what he was going to do about it.

Winners of the individual event at Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club, held at 902 Government Street, Tuesday were: 1. Bill Simpson-Bailek. 2. Fred Hallett. 3. Ethel Cleworth. 4 and 5. Gordon Rodger and Isabelle Kelly. 6. Roland Perrin. 7. Frank Artlett. 8. Bud Waddington.

Winners of the Howell movement were: 1. Larry McMillan and Eric Ware. 2. Ricky Nichols and Jack Patterson. 3. Marianne Powell and Pat Bishop.

SIU Seeks Injunction
To Bar Northland Firings

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Seafarers International Union (Ind.) Wednesday sought an injunction against Northland Navigation Company in a new development on British Columbia's labor scene.

The union, which is locked in a jurisdictional dispute with the National Association of Marine Engineers (CLC), sought an injunction in the B.C. Supreme Court restraining Northland from dismissing engineers who are SIU members.

It was announced earlier that demands by the N.A.M.E. for dismissal of SIU members employed as engineers by the company was the only unsettled issue in the three-week-old N.A.M.E. strike against Northland.

The company said the men are old employees and would not be fired and the SIU sought an injunction to make sure.

STRIKE VOTE

Officials of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union are to set a strike vote today in another major British Columbia labor dispute. It involves 5,000 salmon fishermen.

A strike vote will be taken July 24 among 3,000 shoreworkers employed by canneries and 650 cannery tender.

Executive vice-president William Dodge of the Canadian Labor Congress, here to help restore peace in the strike-troubled province, had talks with Northland officials Wednesday. There was no announcement.

men will vote in another government ballot starting Friday.

In a side-issue of the fishermen's dispute, editor George North, of the UFAW publication, The Fisherman, was released on $1,000 bail, Wednesday, pending appeal of a contempt of court hearing.

North was sentenced to 30 days and the paper fined $3,000 Tuesday for contempt of court contained in an article suggesting the British Columbia Supreme Court had shown partiality in labor matters. His appeal is expected to be heard in September.

Island Cheers Queen

Cheering Crowds Along Highway

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip were greeted everywhere by cheering crowds today as they headed down Vancouver Island toward Victoria and the westernmost point in the New-foundland to B.C. royal tour.

The Queen stepped ashore from HMCS Assiniboine at Nanaimo at 10.07 a.m., as the ship's company offed-caps for three cheers and a tiger.

Under a warm sun and blue skies, the second visit to the Island for the royal couple began auspiciously.

Nine years ago they were here as Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, the year before her ascension to the throne.

On that occasion, as they travelled from Victoria to a holiday at Qualicum Beach, Prince Philip took the wheel of the car and whipped over the highway at 70 miles per hour.

Today's drive down island was less speedy, for the most part, with "slow drive" stretches where onlookers got a good view of the Queen and Prince.

3,000 at Nanaimo Indian Ceremony

Over 3,000 jammed Exhibition Park at Nanaimo to watch the Indian ceremony which made the Queen a tribal "Princess."

The drive to Victoria was timed to arrive at the Fountain circle at 3.10 p.m. and at Government House at 3.45 p.m.

Main function for the day is a ceremony—at the legislative buildings, commencing—at 5.10 p.m., with a greeting from the Premier, Royal salute, inspection of honor guard, and tri-service march past.

'Beautiful—But She Looks Tired'

When the royal party reached Chemainus from Nanaimo, more than 6,000 men, women and children had waited an hour and a half to get a brief look at the Queen and Prince Philip.

Almost unanimously they described Her Majesty as "beautiful—but she does look tired."

Sharp at noon, townsfolk, residents of neighboring Cooper and Tethis Islands, scouts, cubs, guides, brownies and 150 children from the Pacific Pioneer Camp on Tethis Island burst forth with loud cheers as the royal car came into view.

The Queen and Prince Philip acknowledged the crowd and cheers with a wave and easy smiles. Prince Philip cast an extra long look at Chemainus volunteer firemen standing smartly beside their sparkling fire engines.

Royal Smiles for Cubs, Brownies

Two hundred members of the Canadian Legion, Branch 191, in blue blazers and berets, complete with color parties, sprang smartly to attention as the Queen and Prince drove along Willow Street.

They smiled and waved frequently as the car drove slowly through the community.

They seemed to direct their smiles to the children, especially the groups of cubs, scouts, brownies, and guides.

The crowd dispersed quickly as they passed by, many leaving to get new vantage points near the Mt. Brenton golf club, where lunch was served on the fourth fairway.

The Queen was seen to remove her hat and gloves to give the luncheon a picnic atmosphere.

QUEEN COMING BACK FOR SEATTLE FAIR?

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—The Queen told Governor Albert Rosellini of Washington State Wednesday she hopes she can attend Seattle's century 21 exposition May 10, 1960.

Governor Rosellini said he made the invitation when he attended the official opening by the Queen of the Deas Island tunnel under the Fraser river, 15 miles south of here.

The tunnel will be part of a direct route between Washington and Vancouver.

Rosellini said the Queen said: "We hope we can attend."

He said he told her an official invitation will be mailed to Buckingham Palace.

Victoria Newspapers Join National Group

The Victoria Daily Times and the Daily Colonist today entered a new corporate newspaper structure embracing a chain of seven newspapers between here and Ottawa.

Announcement of the new company—to be known as "F.P. Publications Ltd."—was made by Col. Victor Sifton from Winnipeg this morning.

Col. Sifton's statement follows: "In association with G. Max Bell of Calgary I am incorporating a new company to be known as F.P. Publications Ltd., with head office in Winnipeg.

'Respected by All, Mother of All People'

200 Indians Make Queen Their Princess

By JOHN MIKA

"Respected by all, mother of all people"—Queen Elizabeth today received this proud name from her Indian subjects at a color and tradition-packed ceremonial greeting in Nanaimo's Exhibition Park.

More than 200 Indians belonging to bands stretching from Alert Bay to Victoria produced an eye-catching display of tribal dances, crafts, cooking and customs as more than 3,000 persons watched the Hub City's official welcome to the Queen.

"Ar-Oh-Muthi" they named Her Majesty, making her a princess of the Salish tribe to bestow their highest honor for a woman. Her mace was a five-foot totem staff.

Chief James Sewid of Alert Bay led his band in a pulse-thumping dance of welcome that launched the 30-minute journey back through the pages of history to give glimpses of native life before the white man came.

Both appeared relaxed at the informal reception after their arduous schedule in Vancouver.

They obviously were pleased with the reception and show in the park and everyone was pleased with the weather.

STOPPED TO CHAT Both the Queen and her consort stopped to chat with some of the hundreds of Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies that formed a five-deep corridor from the Royal car to a dais where Nanaimo

Boy's Shrill Cheer Heralds Royal Roar

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

NANAIMO — A small boy standing in the crowds lining the sun-drenched harbor spearheaded Vancouver Island's welcome to the Queen and Prince Philip today. "Here they come!" he shrilled as the trim, grey-clad destroyer escort HMCS Assiniboine crept from behind tree-covered Protection Island and slid through the harbor to the flag-draped dockside.

Minutes later a crowd of 2,000 men, women and children of all ages massed around the dockside took up the cry of welcome.

As the Assiniboine came alongside — her four escort ships circling the harbor behind her — the ship's company assembled in trim formation on the lower decks for inspection by the Royal visitors. The historic moment came when, as RCAF planes roared overhead, the Queen and her

PRINCESS HAS SORE THROAT

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret was said today to be suffering from a sore throat.

The infection is not serious but she is remaining indoors at Clarence House, her London home.

U.K. CRITICISM

Worst Day Of Tour

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Herald says the Queen's tour of Vancouver Wednesday was "the toughest, most exacting and badly planned day of her Canadian tour."

"Any good that came of the three-day weekend holiday evaporated in Wednesday's performance. The Queen had to parade along a 30-mile route like a circus act."

"In 10½ hours she was allowed only three rest periods—of 15, five and 20 minutes."

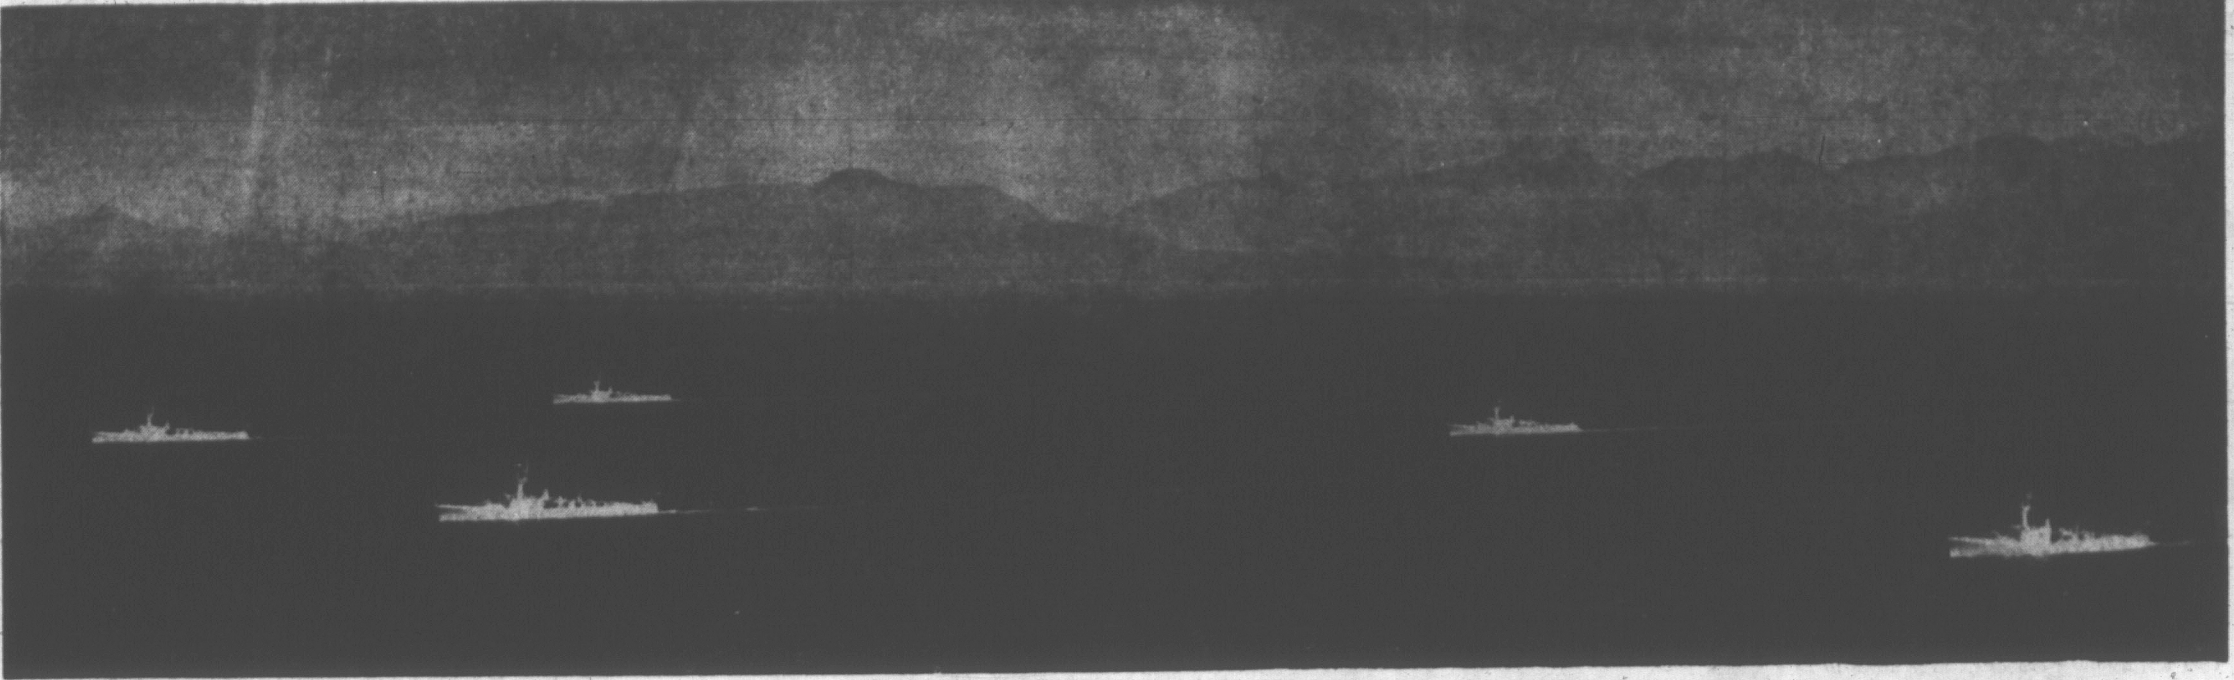

The newspaper, which supports the Labor party, has published several articles criticizing the royal tour.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O Lord, we bless Thee for the good land in which we dwell. We thank Thee for our heritage as a free people, and we beseech Thee so to guide us that free men may not perish from the earth. We are mindful that we are also a servant people, destined to obey Thee and to serve our fellow men. Deepen our concern, lengthen our reach, smite our indifference, and make us a blessing to all nations and people through Him Who is the Prince of Peace. Amen.

Vicious Attack By 2 Burglars On Aged Man

Victim Struck
By Iron Horse

Two men who went into a 77-year-old man's cottage gave him a vicious beating and robbed him of $170 as he lay in bed shortly after midnight.

Samuel Smith, 1017 Balmoral, was in good condition with head and face injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Police who interviewed Smith in hospital quoted him as saying two men came into his room in the dark. One struck him over the head with a heavy, ornamental cast iron horse and demanded his money.

One side of the horse, measuring about 12 inches long, was shattered, apparently by the blow.

Patrick Poulin, a roomer and only other occupant of the Smith bungalow, told police he heard a commotion in Smith's room, then saw one man leave the house by the front door.

This man was described as about 25 years old, of slim build and wearing light clothing.

The assaulted man said it was too dark to identify his assailants and he could not say how they had got into his house.

Hospital Matron Burial Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Louisa Groves, former matron of Oak Lodge private hospital, will be held at McCall Bros. funeral chapel Saturday, starting at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Groves, born in Salisbury, England, had been a resident of Victoria for the past 30 years. She died Wednesday.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. R. Vera Webb of Victoria and Mrs. J. A. Naida of Black Creek, Vancouver Island.

MLA Backed Bill 43 Blindly Says Labor

Saanich MLA John Tisdalle voted in favor of controversial B.C. labor legislation Bill 43 even though he didn't understand it, a delegate to Victoria Labor Council charged Wednesday.

The delegate said he approached the MLA shortly after the new Trades Union Act was passed and "asked him how he stood on it."

"Mr. Tisdalle replied, 'Well, I don't really understand it and I don't know much about labor, but Mr. Wicks (Labor Minister Lyle Wicks) told me it wouldn't hurt anybody, so I voted for it.'"

The disclosure came during council discussion of a B.C. Federation of Labor plan to build up a cash defence fund to fight the new act, which

'FLYING SAUCER' BELIEVED SEEN OVER CITY WEDNESDAY

Ray Redden, 2963 Westdowne, believes he spotted a flying saucer at about midnight Wednesday.

Mr. Redden was watching a show at the Tillicum Outdoor Theatre when, he says, a bright light "travelling at about 3,000 miles per hour, I guess" crossed the sky heading in a northwest direction behind the screen.

He saw the object, which appeared to be surrounded by a halo of lights, for "about three or four seconds" travelling horizontally.

There was no visible tail to the light.

Pat Ray airport officials stated that no reports of unidentified flying objects had been received.

'ACCIDENTAL DEATH'

27-Foot Skids By Police Cycle

Skid marks 27 feet long were left by a motorcycle driven by city police constable Earle Doyle before suffering fatal injuries in an accident last Sunday.

A verdict of accidental death was brought in by a coroner's jury this morning after evidence had been presented before Dr. J. H. Moore, coroner.

Evidence of witnesses and police attending the scene of the accident south of the Douglas and Francis St. intersection at 9 p.m. Sunday showed that oncoming traffic had prevented the car's driver Edward G. Whitehouse, 4025 Saanich, from seeing the constable.

Site of the accident was 117 feet south of the intersection between the entrances of gasoline stations on either side of Douglas.

TURNING LEFT

Testifying under the protection of the Canada Evidence Act Mr. Whitehouse said he saw nothing "except the line of cars ahead."

"There was a violent impact on my right front fender," he said, "... and I had the impression of a man flying through the air."

Testifying before Dr. Moore at McCall Brothers' Funeral Chapel, he said that as he approached the point where he wished to turn, a line of cars was facing him in the curb lane coming north.

Mr. Whitehouse said that lead car appeared to be commencing a turn to the left so he signalled and, after stopping, started his turn.

HEW EIGHT FEET UP
Mr. Whitehouse's testimony agreed with that of succeeding witnesses who said that the constable struck the right fender of the car and flew over the bonnet some eight to 10 feet in the air.

Turning over in the air he was seen to put his arms over his head and land on the back of his head, roll over and come to rest four feet from the curb.

Driver of the car facing Mr. Whitehouse, Terence Lytle, 615 Ralph, said he saw Mr. Whitehouse signal his turn. "I slowed," he said "I think I stopped."

"I saw him turn on his signal, cross the line, and then I turned. Just as I reached the curb I heard the impact."

Mr. Lytle said he thought there was another car behind him when he turned but said he did not see the constable.

Some uncertainty was expressed by the coroner and members of the jury as to the exact location of the vehicles involved and the position of the witnesses.

The constable died, according to medical evidence, at 5:20 p.m. Monday from skull fractures and brain injuries.

Saseenos Hard Hit

Fire which may have been started from a plumber's torch today gutted the uncompleted Saseenos Elementary School and was still burning at noon.

Work on the $38,430 school started four months ago and painters were to have moved in today.

The alarm was turned in at 10:30 a.m. and the Sooke volunteer fire department under Chief W. J. Stephenson was on the spot within minutes.

"Most of our firemen are loggers, and they are on strike, so we were there as fast as possible," he said.

The three-room one-storey school is located across from the government gravel pit.

Flames spread so quickly there was little firemen could do on arrival, the chief said.

The loss was covered by insurance.

Pupils who would have attended the new school this fall will have to be accommodated in the Sooke Elementary School, "which can be done, although it will be crowded," a school board spokesman said.

Rebuilding will start as soon as possible.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Edgar Thomas Magee, 4050 Grange, $25 for failing to heed a siren.

Leslie George Collier, 110 Wildwood, $25 for speeding over 30.

Hans Van Leeuwen, 1867 Oak Bay, $10 for failing to notify Motor Vehicles Branch of a change of address.

'LOVE IS A DIFFICULT THING'

Course of True Romance Diverted by Royal Tour

By DAVID COWLISHAW

One of the Queen's footmen flew into Patricia Bay Airport today, smoothed his striped blue-and-yellow Royal House-hold tie and told reporters, "I am in love with the girl and I intend to marry her as soon as I get back to England."

And thereby hangs a tale, the true fairy-tale story of the love of a beautiful rich girl for a young man whose only possessions are loyalty to Her Majesty and a rollicking sense of humor.

The story begins 18 months ago when Bill Robson, a 25-year-old footman at Buck-

ham Palace, fell in love with Pat Evans, 22, the daughter of a wealthy building contractor.

They met often, danced into each other's hearts and, seven months ago, became engaged.

But then came news of the present Royal tour and Bill Robson was soon winging his way to Canada.

"I'll marry you when I get back," he told Pat and wrote her long letters every week to remind her.

Alas, while he was gone the girl's family apparently took a second look at the match. Wednesday, after a family conference, Pat announced, "I have decided to call it off."

And four miles away from the Evans' mansion, the mother of the jilted footman-told reporters, "Pat's parents made it quite clear they do not want her to marry my lad."

"I told my boy to find someone more suited to his position. But it is clear they are in love."

And Bill Robson confirmed that they were today at Victoria's airport when he arrived to superintend the unloading of the Royal tour luggage.

"I love Pat and I intend to marry her when I get back to England," he said.

"I haven't heard that her family will stand in the way. I have written her two letters in the last few days and she has written to me. She did not say the whole thing was off."

"We are in love and we will be married."

Tall, broad-shouldered and peeling from too much sun, the man with the sandy hair glanced down at his grey suit and watched as men unloaded the Queen's suitcases.

"It is not true that the marriage is off," he said finally. "Somebody must have a good imagination or something."

It was reported the Queen herself offered to have the footman flown home in time for his wedding originally set for Aug. 22, but Bill Robson would not comment on this.

"I cannot say," he said.

And with that, Footman Robson climbed into an official black car and sped away to Victoria to await the Queen.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The 24-foot ketch Idler, object of a wide search when she failed to get across the Strait of Juan de Fuca, is in Victoria today for engine repairs.

The vessel was bound for England but got only as far as Sooke after auxiliary engine trouble developed en route to Neah Bay on the U.S. side. She left here Monday.

Fears for the craft were expressed when she failed to reach Neah Bay, and the U.S. Coast Guard was alerted. A Coast Guard plane spotted her at Sooke.

The craft is manned by Mr. and Mrs. Ian Critchley of Vancouver and a friend, Jim Stewart.

Esquimalt taxes unpaid by 5 p.m. today will be assessed a 5 per cent penalty.

Victoria ratepayers have until the end of September, and Saanich citizens until Oct. 9, to pay their taxes.

An Oak Bay plan to ask the B.C. government to seek a CPR or Black Ball ferry service from Sidney to the mainland after September when CPR sailings from Victoria end, won Mayor Scurrah's approval Wednesday.

"I certainly will support that idea," he said.

Reeve A. C. Wurtel of Esquimalt, however, thought the matter was "a little outside the province" of a municipal council.

Two British Columbia weekly newspapers won awards for editorial excellence at the 40th annual convention in Regina of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association.

The Campbell River Courier won the M. A. James Shield for the best front-page, and the Powell River News won two awards for the best Christmas edition and the best sports page.

Close to 600 Royal Canadian Sea Cadets and their officers from western Canada are taking two weeks summer training at Comox through to Aug. 30.

They are in groups from Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Medicine Hat and Vancouver.

ROCK WIELDERS SMASH WINDOW

Cash totalling $43.40 was stolen from Bill's Texaco Service, 760 Esquimalt, in a burglary reported to city police at 7:15 a.m.

Entry to the station was made by smashing a window with a rock.

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

My memories of the Queen are a series of mental snapshots reaching far back over the years...

1934: A little bare-kneed girl sitting cross-legged in front of a man-size dolls' house at the Ideal Homes Exhibition in London. Alongside, her laughing mother (then the Duchess of York) and her infant sister Margaret. (No thought then that she would become the Queen.)

1943: A stocky well-built girl of 17 in khaki uniform, peering under the hood of a truck at Aldershot, receiving instruction in army mechanics.

1946: A young woman of 20 in short green skirt chatting with Canadian servicemen and women at a reception at Overseas House, London.

1947: A fairy-tale princess, her grave young face glimpsed through the silver frost of her veil, entering shadowy Westminster Abbey to become the bride of Prince Philip of Greece.

1951: A smart young woman in trim navy-blue costume boarding an airplane at London Airport on her first trip to Canada.

1952: A sad young woman in black—taller and more poised—walking behind her father's coffin as it is borne into St. George's Chapel at Windsor.

1953: A radiant young Queen driving through the cheering crowds to her Coronation in the centuries-old Abbey, a diamond tiara gleaming from her rich brown hair.

1955: The same young Queen in a bright summery dress and hat driving through the drab East End of London, bowing and smiling to her poorer subjects.

And now... an accomplished young Queen, who has proved her worth through years of trial, patience and self-control, stepping triumphantly onto Vancouver Island at Nanaimo, en route to Victoria.

THE QUEEN--GOD BLESS HER!

CITY'S ROYAL WELCOME

Queen Warmly Greeted Here

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip reached Victoria this afternoon for the easternmost stop in their ocean-to-ocean tour of Canada.

The Royal cavalcade entered the city from the Trans-Canada Highway shortly after 3.30 p.m. after a triumphant tour down the Island from Nanaimo.

Long before 3 p.m. people had started to assemble at Fountain Circle, Douglas and Hillside, to get a glimpse of the Royal couple.

But the main concentration of people was in the downtown area.

In the bunting and flag decorated blocks crowds along the sidewalks waved and applauded as the procession slowly went by.

Her Majesty was headed first for Government House, there to change clothes and freshen up for the ceremony later at the Legislative Buildings where she will receive the formal welcome by B.C.'s government from Premier Bennett. Then she reviews a navy march past.

This will be all the ceremonial for today, but this evening the Royal pair will be entertained at dinner and a dance in Government House by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross to be attended by 100 guests.

Today's events on Vancouver Island began when she stepped ashore at 10.07 a.m. from HMCS Assiniboine at Nanaimo after a leisurely overnight trip across the gulf in a five-ship squadron.

Greeted By Crowd of 5,000

After events at Nanaimo and Chemainus the Royal pair enjoyed a luncheon at Mount Brenton golf course, then went to Duncan to be greeted by 5,000 people at Pioneer Park.

Hundreds of spectators were perched on six huge lumber trucks arranged in a line along the route from James Street to the dais, where the mayor of Duncan and chairman of the councils of adjacent villages were presented.

Under a warm sun and blue skies the second visit to the Island for the royal couple began auspiciously.

Nine years ago they were here as Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, the year before her ascension to the throne.

On that occasion, as they travelled from Victoria to a holiday at Qualicum Beach, Prince Philip took the wheel of the car and whipped over the highway at 70 miles per hour.

3,000 at Nanaimo Indian Ceremony

Over 3,000 jammed Exhibition Park at Nanaimo to watch the Indian ceremony which made the Queen a tribal "Princess."

The drive to Victoria was timed to arrive at the Fountain circle at 3.20 p.m. and at Government House at 3.45 p.m.

Main function for the day is a ceremony—at the legislative buildings, commencing—at 5.10 p.m., with a greeting from the Premier, Royal salute, inspection of honor guard, and tri-service march past.

'Beautiful—But She Looks Tired'

When the royal party reached Chemainus from Nanaimo, more than 6,000 men, women and children had waited an hour and a half to get a brief look at the Queen and Prince Philip.

Almost unanimously they described Her Majesty as "beautiful—but she does look tired."

Sharp at noon, townsfolk, residents of neighboring Cooper and Thetis Islands, scouts, cubs, guides, brownies and 150 children from the Pacific Pioneer Camp on Thetis Island burst forth with loud cheers as the royal car came into view.

Royal Smiles for Cubs, Brownies

Two hundred members of the Canadian Legion, Branch 191, in blue blazers and berets, complete with color parties, sprang smartly to attention as the Queen and Prince drove along Willow Street.

They smiled and waved frequently as the car drove slowly through the community.

They seemed to direct their smiles to the children, especially the groups of cubs, scouts, brownies, and guides.

The crowd dispersed quickly as they passed by, many leaving to get new vantage points near the Mt. Brenton golf club, where lunch was served on the fourth fairway.

Victoria Newspapers Join National Group

The Victoria Daily Times and the Daily Colonist today entered a new corporate newspaper structure embracing a chain of seven newspapers between here and Ottawa.

Announcement of the new company—to be known as "P.P. Publications Ltd."—was made by Col. Victor Sifton from Winnipeg this morning.

200 Indians Make Queen Their Princess

By JOHN MIKA

"Respected by all, mother of all people"—Queen Elizabeth today received this proud name from her Indian subjects at a color and tradition-packed ceremonial greeting in Nanaimo's Exhibition Park.

More than 200 Indians belonging to bands stretching from Alert Bay to Victoria produced an eye-catching display of tribal dances, crafts, cooking and customs as more than 3,000 persons watched the Hub City's official welcome to the Queen.

"Ar-Oh-Muthi!" they named Her Majesty, making her a princess of the Salish tribe to bestow their highest honor for a woman. Her mace was a five-foot totem staff.

Double Roars of Welcome Greet Pair

The Queen and Prince Philip were greeted by double roars of welcome from the packed 2,500-seat stadium as their car entered the park behind a six-motorcycle escort of RCMP constables.

Both appeared relaxed at the informal reception after their arduous schedule in Vancouver. They obviously were pleased with the reception and show in the park and everyone was pleased with the weather.

Both the Queen and her consort stopped to chat with Continued on Page 35

The Queen, in polka-dot dress with trim black and white cloche mantling her soft brown hair, looked happy and relaxed after a night of slow cruising in the quiet waters of the Gulf of Georgia between Vancouver and the Island.

Prince Philip, hatless, in a light grey suit and dark glasses, was so deeply bronzed by weeks of sun that his blond eyebrows stood out in sharp relief.

He came off the ship with a long, sloping stroll and waved in almost carefree fashion to the welcoming crowds.

First to greet the Queen at the foot of the gangplank was Defence Minister General G. R. Pearkes, VC, who had flown out from Ottawa for the occasion.

In a dark suit and carrying a fedora hat, the general bowed low as he took the Queen's gloved hand and said:

"Welcome to Vancouver Island, Your Majesty."

Mrs. Pearkes, in white dress with wide picture hat then shook hands with the Queen while General Pearkes exchanged a manly handshake with Prince Philip.

Mayor Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo, wearing royal blue robes trimmed with ermine and gold chain of office, was presented by General Pearkes.

"Your Majesty, it is my great honor to welcome you to the city of Nanaimo," the mayor said. He then introduced his six aldermen—John Cook, Jack Parker, Haig Burns, Douglas Greer, George Bryce and Jack McGregor.

100 FIRST AID MEN TO 'POLICE' CROWDS

More than 100 members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade will be in attendance at the various functions in which the Queen and Prince Philip will take part during their visit here.

Heaviest concentration of ambulance personnel will be at Friday's Beacon Hill reception and the children's rally at Clover Point. About 25 members will be at each location, with a first aid station establishment at the Point.

Mrs. Emily Harwood, local superintendent, said never in the brigade's history have so many members participated in a major event here.

St. John Ambulance personnel will also line streets along the "slow" routes to be taken by the royal couple.

Some of the hundreds of Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies that formed a five-deep corridor from the Royal car to a dais where Nanaimo Mayor Pete Maffeo escorted the Queen.

The crowd burst into God Save the Queen as she stood in the centre of the platform with her husband near her side. Then the civic dignitaries and Indian chiefs were presented.

The Queen, and especially Prince Philip, stopped most of the dignitaries and chiefs for a few words. Prince Philip frequently asked the men how they made their "living" and seemed interested by the wide range of occupations the various reeves and village chairmen had.

The biggest thrill went to Mrs. Paula Johnson, 97-year-old pioneer of Nanaimo, who was helped across the platform by Prince Philip after receiving a special smile from the Queen.

Later she could only say an excited "oh, my" as reporters crowded around her to ask details of the brief conversation with the royal couple.

PRESENTATION

The crowd clapped as Rev. Peter Kelly, chairman of the legislative committee of the Native Brotherhood of B.C. was presented to the royal couple.

The Queen listened while Prince Philip asked Rev. Kelly where he lived and to what denomination he ministered and then she joined the conversation, but a gentle breeze blew her words away from listening reporters below the dais.

Mayor Maffeo escorted the royal couple down the dais steps to the sawdust-covered infield of the park.

Then, with a shriek and a whoop, the fun began.

DANCE OF MASKS

A dozen braves, their faces hidden behind stark wooden masks and their bodies covered with feather-dressed skins, burst out of the "long house" in a gyrating Dance of Masks that swirled up to and around the Queen.

Rattles of sea shells clicked shrilly, an Indian chorus chanted and tomtoms reverberated in alternating fast and slow tempos as the pounding feet shook the ground.

Prince Philip and RCMP escorts stepped into the background as the dancers wound their way around the Queen, bells tied at their ankles jingling fiercely.

The royal couple looked closely at a special rockery with its own waterfall set up near the "long house" along with more than 100 trees to provide a realistic setting.

U.K. CRITICISM

Worst Day Of Tour

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Herald says the Queen's tour of Vancouver Wednesday was "the toughest, most exacting and badly planned day of her Canadian tour."

"Any good that came of the three-day weekend holiday evaporated in Wednesday's performance. The Queen had to parade along a 30-mile route like a circus act."

"In 10½ hours she was allowed only three rest periods—of 15, five and 20 minutes."

The newspaper, which supports the Labor party, has published several articles criticizing the royal tour.

PRINCESS HAS SORE THROAT

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret was said today to be suffering from a sore throat.

The infection is not serious but she is remaining indoors at Clarence House, her London home.

Funeral Service on Friday For Wife of City Banker

Funeral services will be held Friday for Mrs. Sadie Lynn Thow, 1021 Gillespie Place, who died Wednesday at home.

Wife of Victoria bank manager James C. Thow, she was born in Glasgow and was a resident of Victoria for more than 35 years.

In addition to her husband she is survived by two sons, Lynn C. Thow, of Vernon, and Ian F. C. Thow, of Victoria; sisters, Moss Mabel Lynn and Mrs. James C. Pollock.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. from Hayward's Funeral Home, conducted by the Very Reverend J. Louis W. McLean and followed by cremation.

BOYS CHEER 'He Didn't Get Up' Cameraman Claims

House garden party Friday afternoon.

Four hundred Royal Canadian Navy cadets lined the road from the harbor; standing stiffly at attention.

The dockside greeting lasted barely 10 minutes after which the Queen and Prince Philip were escorted by General Peckes to a sleek Cadillac for the processional drive to Exhibition Park.

Before leaving the Assiniboine, the Queen and Prince Philip bade farewell to Capt. J. C. Pratt, who commanded not only the Assiniboine but her escorts the St. Laurent, Fraser, Skeena and Margaree.

"Thank you for a very pleasant voyage," the Queen told him.

"Most enjoyable," said Prince Philip.

Three RCMP craft patrolled the harbor as the Assiniboine approached.

As she approached Nanaimo, four maritime patrol Neptune aircraft from 407 Maritime Squadron, RCAF, Comox, patrolled the sea lane ahead of her.

Three CF-100 all-weather fighter aircraft from 409 Squadron, also at Comox, flew over the ship as the royal party stepped ashore.

Joining in the harbor welcome were several sailing yachts, a few rowboats and a jaunty dinghy manned by three sturdy teen-agers, one of them waving a Union Jack.

"What does the name Nanaimo mean?" asked Mrs. Peckes, a few minutes before the Queen came ashore. "I think Her Majesty might like to know."

She was told that Nanaimo is an Indian name meaning "Meeting Place for the Tribes."

Red-coated Mounties stood guard at all bridges along the route to Victoria.

Reds Will Negotiate

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko indicated readiness in the Big Four conference today to consider modifications asked by the West on key points of his proposal for a truce in the Berlin crisis. The conference, appeared to be entering a new phase of serious negotiation.

Israel-Arab Flareup

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—An Israeli army patrol killed two Egyptians and captured one Wednesday in the most serious border flareup in several months, the army announced today.

Beware the phoney "bargain!"

Price tags may mislead. The bargain that looks "too good to be true" could be just that—too good to be true! It may mean a discontinued line. You might find service and repair costly, difficult, even impossible.

You can be confident with a known and respected name. With all Frigidaire products you're doubly assured of reliable service, and dependable construction. Every Frigidaire appliance is backed by two great names—Frigidaire and General Motors.

Just what you want

Let the Frigidaire Dealer show you his complete line of ranges. You're sure to find a Frigidaire electric range with all the work-saving features you desire—at a price you can afford—and just the right size for your home. Here are some of the Frigidaire features you may be dreaming about.

Cooking without slaving

You'll find Frigidaire's exclusive Pull 'N Clean oven the easiest in the world to clean. Actually cuts cleaning time in half! The oven liner pulls out and you can stand up to wipe clean the entire oven interior!

Cleanliness without fuss

The Frigidaire surface units lift up and stay up. The deep porcelain drip bowls lift out easily for washing. And to give you a completely smooth surface to wipe, the panel control knobs pull right off.

Automatic elements

Now you can fry, steam, boil, stew and grill your foods on top of the range, at any heat you select. No worries about burning or scorching. The Frigidaire Heat Minder Unit automatically keeps the pan from overheating!

Roast meats without guesswork

No guessing when your roast is done. An Electric Meat Thermometer lets you dial the proper degree of "doneness" before you roast. A buzzer signals you when the roast is just the way you want it.

Splatter-Free Broiler Grill

You can now broil up to a hundred times without having to clean the oven. With Frigidaire's exclusive Splatter-Free Broiler Grill, grease stays in the pan, not on the oven walls.

Handy French Doors

This exclusive Frigidaire feature is most convenient. You can open the French Doors together and close them together. They save you aisle space and save you stretching over a hot oven door.

Your own Rotisserie

You can barbecue chicken, ham, or any other meat to juicy, self-basting perfection. It starts and stops automatically!

He says the charge is "a very serious one for the regiment as well as for the officer" and calls it "the most cruel blow I have received during the 45 years of my association with the regiment."

The officer concerned is not identified by Gen. Vanier but is described as a high-ranking officer of 25 years' service who commanded a battalion of the regiment during the Second World War and was decorated.

An editor's note published under the letter quotes Eddy Roworth, a Star reporter-photographer, as saying the officer he photographed did not stand during an abridged version of the anthem.

"I kept my eye on him. He didn't get up," Roworth is quoted.
